BAD DAY AT BLACK ROCK

TCM 132, 6:30pm CATCH A CLASSIC!

This terrific and suspenseful 1955 drama from Best Director Oscar nominee John Sturges was one of the earliest "Revisionist Westerns," tweaking elements of the traditional Western genre and even adding in compelling elements of film noir, to boot. Taking place shortly after World War II in the isolated Southwest town of its title, the film finds Black Rock receiving its first outside visitor in many years when one-armed veteran John Macready (Best Actor Oscar nominee Spencer Tracy) arrives and tries to visit an Asian American war hero's family. Quiet about his agenda, Macready is received with suspicion by the unusually jumpy locals, and when his few innocuous questions begin to scrape away at the town's shared, dark secret, he may not live to catch the train out. Robert Ryan, Anne Francis, Dean Jagger, Walter Brennan, Lee Marvin and Ernest Borgnine also star.

STAR OF THE MONTH: MARION DAVIES TCM 132, beginning at 8pm

CATCH A CLASSIC!

Turner Classic Movies' monthlong Tuesday night celebration of iconic actress Marion Davies continues tonight with six more of her films, titles that straddle her later silent movie career and the beginnings of her work in the age of "talkies" in the late 1920s/early '30s. While that latter time also marked the beginnings of Davies' decline in popularity compared to her earlier heights of stardom, she still turned in impressive performances, as you can see in this evening's films.

Up first is The Patsy (1928), a silent comedy/drama that was the first of three collaborations between Davies and director King Vidor. It costars Marie Dressler, another top female star of early Hollywood. Also in 1928, Davies and Vidor teamed for the next film, the silent comedy Show People. Costarring William Haines, this production also features cameos from other top film personalities of the day, including Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks, William S. Hart and John Gilbert, with Vidor also appearing as himself.

Bracingly directed by Raoul Walsh, this fast-paced film noir tracing Jarrett's violent life in and out of jail is also a harrowing character study. Jarrett is a psychological time bomb ruled by impulse — he murders a wounded accomplice and revels in the act; neglects his sultry wife (Virginia Mayo); and adores his doting mother. It is among the most vivid screen performances of Cagney's career, and shows that when it came to portraying such characters, the actor was "top of the world!"

But the show that sparked a new era of acceptance was also saddled with extreme devastation on the inside. Endless scandals, tabloid gossip and fatal tragedies plagued the rising stars on what was supposed to be the most joyful show on television. This three-part limited series (all episodes air back-to-back tonight) pulls back the curtain on the series to explore the harsh reality of fame.

INDEPENDENT LENS: "THE BIG PAYBACK"

PBS, 10pm

A rookie alderwoman from Evanston, Illinois, led the passage of the United States' first tax-funded reparations for slavery bill for Black Americans. While she and her community struggle with the burden to make restitution for its citizens, a national racial crisis engulfs the country. Will the debt ever be addressed, or is it too late for this reparations movement to finally get the big payback?

MIRACLE WORKERS: END TIMES

TBS 139, 10pm SEASON PREMIERE!

Daniel Radcliffe, Steve Buscemi, Geraldine Viswanathan, Karan Soni and Jon Bass return for the fourth installment of the anthology comedy, this one being set in the postapocalyptic future. This time around, the crew follows a wasteland warrior (Radcliffe) and ruthless warlord (Viswanathan) as they face the most dystopian nightmare of all: settling down in the suburbs. Together they navigate the existential horrors of married life and small-town living, all under the dubious guidance of a wealthy junk trader (Buscemi). Also starring Bass as the couple's faithful war dog, and Soni as a kill-bot who loves to party.

FEMALE DETECTIVES — PART 3: ROGUE FEMALES

TCM 132, beginning at 8pm

CATCH A CLASSIC!

Turner Classic Movies concludes its Friday evening salute to fictional female film detectives this evening with four films. First is Lured (1947), a film noir offering a change of pace for fans of Lucille Ball who are accustomed to seeing her in more comedic roles. Ball plays an American in London who helps police find a serial killer after her friend disappears. George Sanders, Charles Coburn and Boris Karloff costar in director Douglas Sirk's mystery. Next, in Wanted! Jane Turner (1936), both criminals and two postal investigators (played by Gloria Stuart and Lee Tracy) are intent on locating the "Jane Turner" to whom a letter and loads of cash were sent in the wake of a mail robbery. Following that is one of the earliest noir films, Stranger on the Third Floor (1940), in which Margaret Tallichet plays the fiancée of a reporter (John McGuire) who is arrested following two murders. Finally, in Deadline at Dawn (1946), Susan Hayward plays a dance-hall girl who embarks on an eventful evening as she helps a soon-to-ship-out sailor (Bill Williams) find the person who murdered a woman he had met earlier.

WOMAN OF THE YEAR

TCM 132, 11:45am CATCH A CLASSIC!

Before Katharine Hepburn ever met Spencer Tracy, she wanted him as her costar in this 1942 romantic comedy/drama directed by George Stevens. Conceived to build on the smashing comeback Hepburn had made in The Philadelphia Story, Woman of the Year is the story of rival newspaper reporters who wed, only to find that their careers aren't so compatible when they both demonstrate unflinching commitment to their work. The freewheeling but pinpoint-sharp screenplay by Ring Lardner Jr. and Michael Kanin won an Oscar, and Hepburn was nominated for Best Actress. In the film, the legendary Hollywood pair forged a fresh and realistic vision of what marriage could be, and it marked the beginning of the long-lasting personal and professional union between Hepburn and Tracy, who would go on to make eight more films together. Woman of the Year stands as a dazzling, funny and sometimes rueful observation of what it takes for men and women to get along — both in the workplace and out of it.
