EDITOR'S NOTE

A Few Updates

Action, romance, dark dramas and ripped-from-the-headlines stories fill this month's slate of new programming. As always, we'll walk you through these highlights and give you the inside details on what makes these shows worth checking out.

A few things to note in this issue include our annual Reader

Survey on page 9. We appreciate your feedback on the magazine, so please take a minute to complete it and send it in — feel free to write out any additional wishes you may have on a separate piece of paper as well. Also included in this issue is the complete TV schedule for NASCAR, which can be found on pages 88-89. Tear it out and keep it for the season!

As I'm sure you've seen on the news, the United States Postal Service has been overwhelmed this past year and has been challenged getting the mail to us in a timely fashion. We've heard from some of you in regard to late delivery of the magazine (like readers in the Bronx who are only getting their mail three times a week). Please know we are working with the USPS on the issue and have even adjusted our print dates to allow them more days to get the magazines through their system. If you don't receive your magazine by the second or third day of the month, please call us directly at 888-333-5388. It's OK to leave a message if you don't get Tammi, Laura, Paul, Lori or even myself on the phone, as we are a small crew and check the voicemail several times a day. We will get you a copy! Thanks for your patience and your loyalty. Better days are ahead for 2021!

Happy viewing!

Why No DVD Release?

This rant is 20 years old. Why is it that some TV stations never put their shows on DVD/Blu-ray so you can own the series/seasons? I've noticed that some shows that weren't even hits, that only lasted for one or two seasons, are available for purchase. Meanwhile, some great shows that lasted for three, four, five seasons or more never go on sale. Examples include: Being Mary Jane, Half & Half and Shadowhunters. What's up with that? – Evelyn

The biggest reason some series haven't been made available on DVD/Blu-ray ties to marketplace demand and whether a studio believes it can make enough money in sales to warrant the cost. Other obstacles include the costs associated with physical copies versus digital streaming links, as well as the costs involved in obtaining and negotiating music rights, and multiple contracts and copyrights involved to make it worth it.

QUESTION OF THE MONTH: What's your favorite romantic movie and why?

Email us at dishletters@ntvbmedia.com

Include That Calendar!

I am a subscriber and wanted to say I love your magazine. In your August issue you included a calendar of all the TCM stars that were airing on each respective day. Could you please do that every month because I would like to keep this page and be able to look back and see each name with a photo. Thanks. – Paul

Mr Inbetween will be back on FX later this year

TCM does its Summer Under the Stars every August, where every day is devoted to a different star. The network's normal schedule doesn't allow us to do such a calendar, as it's not focused solely on just one star. We will be including the calendar, however, every August.

A Returning Favorite

Do you have any information on the TV series Mr Inbetween that aired on FX? Is it paused due to COVID? – Carl FX has confirmed that there will be a third season of "Mr Inbetween," which will air later this year. Shot in Australia, "Mr Inbetween" is a half-hour comedy series created by and starring Scott Ryan as Ray Shoesmith, a guy who "takes care of people" – collecting debts, relieving them of drugs and guns, and often taking care of them on a more permanent basis.

Why Aren't Networks Writing Back?

I am an avid subscriber to your magazine, as I always plan my TV viewing. I'm concerned about the network BET. I have written them for six months. I have sent movie suggestions since they keep playing the same movies every month. What's the point of having a viewer relations if they don't respond to viewer suggestions? I've even sent a self-addressed stamped envelope. Why don't networks respond to viewer feedback? – Derrick

First, for the past year many people haven't even been in an office so I'm not all that sure how mailrooms are operating these days. Over the years, I've seen many networks move away from letters and direct viewers to their online reader relations department. Here's the general response you get when you file a letter online: "Thanks for taking the time to share your thoughts. We receive so many requests daily that we are not always able to respond to each request individually. We will do our best to address your feedback in a timely manner." Similarly, our magazine doesn't have a huge staff to answer all of our mail. We handle most via this column. I can tell you, however, that we read everything we receive, and the same may be true for networks. Either way, we submitted the question and will update you further if we get a response.

Congratulations!

Our December Reader Rewards winner of a martini shaker, chocolate almonds and two stylish agate stone coasters (compliments of Lifetime) was John Merrill.

Delivery/Replacement Policy

We mail each issue of your magazine in enough time for it to arrive by the first of the month according to what is required by the United States Postal Service standards for delivery. If your magazine does not arrive in the first few days of the month, you must contact us within 15 days (i.e., by Feb. 15) to request a replacement copy. The “Golden” Girls Return!

Tina Fey And Amy Poehler Are Back As Golden Globes Hosts. By Jeff Pfeiffer

As with everything these days, the 78th Annual Golden Globes ceremony — where the Hollywood Foreign Press Association (HFPA) honors the best in film and television — will be different in a few ways this year. It is airing much later than usual; the ceremony is usually held in January as one of the events kicking off awards season, but will now be held on Feb. 28 (airing on NBC). Also, the eligibility period for motion pictures has been extended to include movies released through the date of the ceremony (the television eligibility period ended on Dec. 31). In terms of the ceremony's presentation, details on any changes were not available at presstime, and neither were nominees (they will be announced Feb. 3). One major element of this year's Golden Globes that will help offset the changes and bring some sense of normalcy is the welcome return of Tina Fey and Amy Poehler as hosts. The two were critically applauded and loved by viewers during their stints hosting the awards from 2013-15, thanks to their witty onstage banter and effortless rapport with each other. “There’s no denying that Tina and Amy’s comedic chemistry is infectious,” said former HFPA president Lorenzo Soria. “We can’t wait to see the dynamic duo return to the Golden Globes stage.” Neither can viewers.

5 Questions

With JASON BIGGS
Of FOX's "Cherries Wild" By Taylor Neumann

During our interview with Jason Biggs, the host of the new Cherries Wild on FOX (premiering Feb. 14), he called this a "golden age of game show television," and it's hard to disagree. Game shows are all over primetime, and this year they're a bright spot in what can otherwise be a dark schedule. Cherries Wild follows a team of two as they answer trivia questions in hopes of spinning a giant slot machine to hopefully win $250,000. Biggs looks to be the perfect mix of lighthearted fun and relatability as host. We caught up with him to ask our "5 Questions."

1 What were some of your favorite game shows growing up?

Boy, that's a tough one. There were so many good ones. I loved Hollywood Squares, because there were some real funny people that they had. ... The higher the stakes, obviously, the more exciting it could be. But you need comedy. My favorite game shows were the ones where you could really laugh.

2 What is a movie you never get tired of watching?

Really, anything Scorsese. There's so many movies you could be flipping through and they could come on and you could be two hours, an hour and a half in and you go, "Well, there's only a half-hour left of the movie. That's a bummer. I'll just keep flipping." But the thing about a Scorsese movie is even if you're already an hour and a half into the movie, you've still got at least another hour and a half left. You haven't even hit the big climax.

3 What are three things you need to have in your fridge or pantry?

One of the things that I've loved a lot lately that when I start to run out, I start to freak out and have to make sure I order more is Kewpie mayo. It's a Japanese mayonnaise. It's not quite Miracle Whip, but it's something else and I am obsessed with it. ... Whole beans, coffee beans, always make sure that I have enough. I usually order three or four pounds at a time. ... And then a good olive oil. I cook a lot, so there's always pasta.

4 How good are you at answering pop culture questions?

I've got to tell you, I'm not so bad. I really feel like there was one or two questions that definitely stumped me through the filming of the show that I remember. Maybe there were more, but one or two definitely stood out to me that I was like, "Oh boy, I don't know that I would get that right."

5 Who would you pick as your trivia partner?

Well, in order to stay married to the mother of my children, I'd probably have to pick Jenny. Now, if I really wanted to get the best pop culture trivia person on my side, I don't know that it would be her. She's pretty good, but I find myself knowing a lot more than her.

Recently Renewed Shows

It's Always Sunny in Philadelphia has been renewed for Seasons 15-18 at FXX. Season 15 is due to air this year, which will make Sunny the longest-running live-action comedy series in TV history, bypassing The Adventures of Ozzie & Harriet. ... Also at FXX, the animated spy comedy Archer has been renewed for Season 12, which is slated to premiere this year. ... Fresh off several Emmy wins and boasting the highest-rated talk show debut in seven years, The Kelly Clarkson Show has been renewed for two additional seasons in syndication, through 2023. ... The prognosis is good for the Canadian medical drama Transplant to continue here in the States after its successful Season 1 run on NBC — the network will also be picking up the series' second season (it was renewed this summer by Canada's Bell Media). ... Audiences have not masked their love for The Masked Singer, so FOX is bringing back the celebrity competition series for Season 5. ... E! is bringing back The Bradshaw Bunch for Season 2, E! True Hollywood Story for Season 2 and Botched for Season 7 this year.

IN THE WORKS

By Taylor Neumann

CASTING NEWS

JAG alum ① David James Elliott is joining Arrow's Stephen Amell in Heels, the new small-town wrestling drama from Starz. It follows a Georgia family who owns their own production and whose brothers are bitter rivals – someone has to be the good guy, and someone the bad guy, but will those roles carry over into their real lives? Elliott will play the family patriarch, who has built the business up from scratch. ... ② Leon (Blue Bloods) is set for a recurring role on the upcoming Season 2 of Showtime's City on a Hill. The series, set in an early 1990s Boston, is a fictional account of what was then called the "Boston miracle" in a seedy city rife with violent criminals.

Leon will play Rev. Isaiah Hughes, a spiritual adviser and activist in his community.

COMING UP SOON

Robots are coming to CBS. The network is working on a new show, ③ Burn-In, about artificial intelligence and robotics coming together in modern-day police work. The series is based on the book Burn-In: A Novel of the Real Robotic Revolution by P.W. Singer and August Cole, and is written by Rob Doherty, creator of one of CBS' prior hits, Elementary. ... ABC is developing The Three Joaquins, centering on a wealthy Latinx family who are confronted with their father's past when a 16-year-old arrives on their doorstep. It's partly based on the family experiences of Manny Figueroa, an executive producer and cowriter.

FORTHCOMING AT FOX

FOX has given a straight-to-series order to ④ Fantasy Island, a reboot of the classic show that originally aired from 1977-84. The new version of the series will keep a similar format to the original in that it will follow a group of characters who stay on the island and have new visitors every week. People will retreat to the island with a fantasy in mind, but watch as their wants and needs evolve through the magical realism that abounds. ... FOX is also developing a remake of the British show Stath Lets Flats, which recently won at the BAFTAs. The comedy will be known as Bren Rents and comes from The Good Place writer Joe Mande. The original series is about a bumbling rental agent in London running his father's business. ... FOX has also acquired a new show from across the border.

Holmes Family Effect, an unscripted series starring home renovation contractor ⑤ Mike Holmes, will make its premiere in the U.S. after airing in Canada in early 2021. The four-part series showcases Holmes along with his daughter and son as they surprise community leaders and transform public spaces.

YANKED!: Recently Canceled Shows

NBC's Superstore will have a going-out-of-business sale when its current Season 6 ends this spring. ... The CW's Black Lightning will fade to black after Season 4, which debuts Feb. 8. ... The critically lauded sitcom reboot One Day at a Time has been canceled for the second time. Seasons 1-3 aired on Netflix, and a shortened fourth season aired last spring on Pop. ... The clock has run out on Netflix's animated comedy Hoops after one season. ... Mae Martin's dramedy Feel Good will quit cold turkey on Netflix after its upcoming second season.

Save $$$ With An Over-The-Air Antenna

By Colleen Skells

If you'd like to save money on your DISH bill, look into making a one-time investment in an over-the-air (OTA) antenna to watch programming on local stations like ABC, CBS, FOX and NBC. The antenna picks up signals from large broadcast towers and delivers local stations right to your TV, removing the need to pay a monthly fee for this programming. If you have a Hopper or Wally, you can pair the antenna with DISH's OTA adapter to integrate the channels into your DISH guide and record shows as normal.

You can purchase an antenna and/or an OTA adapter by logging in to your mydish.com account. The equipment comes with step-by-step instructions to make the installation process easy. You can also watch a step-by-step video of installing the equipment at mydish.com/adapter. Note that if you don't have an OTA adapter, you'll need to switch TV inputs to watch local programming, so be sure to note which TV port your antenna is connected to.

You will recoup your investment in an OTA solution in less than a year without paying for local channels through DISH, which costs $144 per year. Each subsequent year you will save at least $144 – or more due to rising costs – which equates to thousands of dollars of savings over a lifetime.

To learn more about OTA technology, visit mydish.com/ota.

Check out features of your Hopper, Joey or Wally by visiting youtube.com/user/dish or mydish.com/support.

Colleen Skells is a communications manager at DISH.

Love Is On The Air

Spend A Romantic Movie-Viewing Month
With Turner Classic Movies. By Jeff Pfeiffer

Throughout February, Turner Classic Movies (TCM) celebrates cinematic romance with a number of films spanning seven decades – from Charlie Chaplin and Virginia Cherrill in 1931's City Lights to Daniel Day-Lewis, Winona Ryder and Michelle Pfeiffer in 1993's The Age of Innocence.

TCM's primary focus will be on Valentine's Day weekend, when it will air over 48 hours' worth of romantic movies beginning the evening of Feb. 12 and continuing through Feb. 14, as part of its TCM Romantic Weekend Getaway programming event. Additionally, each Thursday, the network will air a primetime lineup of themed romantic titles (see the next page for more details).

Here are just a few of the notable films TCM is airing this month that you will fall in love with all over again – or for the first time. Check your listings for more titles and airtimes.

Written on the Wind
(1956) — Feb. 11

One of the lushly colorful 1950s melodramas for which director Douglas Sirk remains renowned, this film stars Rock Hudson, Lauren Bacall, Best Supporting Actor Oscar nominee Robert Stack and Best Supporting Actress Oscar winner Dorothy Malone in a tale about self-destructive siblings (Stack and Malone) spoiled by their father's oil wealth. Hudson plays a geologist for the oil company they run, who secretly loves the brother's wife (Bacall), with deliciously soapy and oh-so-dramatic situations ensuing. The film also received an Oscar nomination for its title theme song by Victor Young and Sammy Cahn.

Roman Holiday

Audrey Hepburn won a Best Actress Oscar for her role as Ann, a beautiful princess on a European publicity tour, in this charming, Best Picture Oscar-nominated 1953 romantic comedy from director William Wyler (an Oscar nominee). During a stop in Rome, Ann sneaks away from her embassy, determined to see the Eternal City on her own terms. A hard-bitten newspaperman (Gregory Peck), hiding the fact that he's a reporter, spends the day with her in an effort to get a scoop, but finds himself falling for the young royal.

Lover Come Back
(1961)
— Feb. 11

This is one of three beloved romantic comedies Doris Day, Rock Hudson and Tony Randall teamed up for in the late 1950s and early '60s. It's an outrageously funny tale of mistaken identity that received an Oscar nomination for its screenplay. Day and Hudson play Carol and Jerry, rival advertising executives who dislike each other's tactics.

Pillow Talk (1959) — Feb. 13

Doris Day, Rock Hudson and Tony Randall made the first of their three timeless romantic comedy teamings in this classic that won an Oscar for its screenplay. It tells the story of Jan (Best Actress Oscar nominee Day), an uptight interior decorator who must share a party line with laidback playboy Brad (Hudson). But the real connection is made when the two meet and he begins wooing her with late-night calls – while pretending to be someone else.

Casablanca (1942)
— Feb. 12

It's still the same old story, but after nearly 80 years, this Best Picture Oscar-winning classic filled with drama, suspense and romance retains its position as one of the finest films ever produced — not to mention retaining its ability to have you reaching for a hanky with its tale of love and sacrifice in the early days of World War II. The romantic triangle among passionately heroic Czech resistance leader Victor Laszlo (Paul Henreid), his beautiful wife Ilsa (Ingrid Bergman) and her ex-lover, cynical American Rick Blaine (Best Actor Oscar nominee Humphrey Bogart), is as emotionally compelling as ever, thanks to electrifying performances from the leads (and from scene-stealing Best Supporting Actor nominee Claude Rains) and one memorable line after another courtesy of the film's Oscar-winning screenplay. Casablanca is one of those films you'll never get tired of playing again.

The Way We Were (1973) — Feb. 14

Best Actress Oscar nominee Barbra Streisand and Robert Redford make movie magic as star-crossed lovers Katie Morosky and Hubbell Gardiner. Theirs is a classic love story sparked by the attraction of opposites, played out against the backdrop of American life from World War II through McCarthy-era paranoia in Hollywood. The film's title song won an Oscar and has become a tear-jerking classic standard in its own right thanks to Streisand's emotional rendition here.

Doctor Zhivago (1965)
— Feb. 13

This Best Picture Oscar-nominated David Lean epic is a tale of a Russia divided by war and hearts torn by love, with Omar Sharif in the title role and Julie Christie as his haunting, longtime love Lara. Both are caught up in the tidal wave of history between the years prior to World War I and the Russian Civil War of 1918-22. Maurice Jarre's score earned one of the film's five Academy Awards out of the 10 for which it was nominated.

Kiss Connection!

Thursdays in February, TCM airs "Kiss Connection" — evenings of romantic movies with one actor from each movie also connected to the title airing after it. The last actor connection of a night carries over to the next week, with Irene Dunne being the month's starting and ending connection. Here's the Kiss Connection lineup:

SUPERMAN & LOIS

The Royal Couple Of
Comic Books Returns
To Television.

By Taylor Neumann

Superman and Lois Lane are the king and queen of comic book lore, and now they are headed to a TV near you. Superman & Lois is the newest addition to The CW's universe of superhero television shows, and it promises a new take on perhaps the medium's best-known couple.

In this new iteration, Clark Kent (Tyler Hoechlin) and Lois Lane (Elizabeth Tulloch) are attempting to raise their family – teen sons Jonathan (Jordan Elsass) and Jordan (Alexander Garfin) – after moving back to Smallville from Metropolis. “They’re struggling with all the things that parents struggle with,” said cocreator and showrunner Todd Helbing. “So how do two of the busiest people on the planet do that? And juggle their jobs and raising kids at the same time, which I think is something that is really relatable to a lot of people in the world."

Another facet of the drama is showing Lois Lane as truly a hero in her own right, saving the world in a different way than her superhumanly skilled husband but no less effective. "Lois Lane just inherently is a symbol of strength. She's fearless — she has no qualms telling people of all statures and status what she thinks of them," explained Helbing. "In the comics, she's always sort of presented as this damsel in distress, but we didn't want to do that ever with her." She's a working mom, continuing her career at the Daily Planet as one of the most famous journalists in the world. This also gives her a different perspective on quote-unquote "bad guys" — during the first season, both Superman and Lois will each have their own villain to conquer.

Smallville itself is another aspect of the show that will seem familiar to fans of the genre, but has been updated to reflect more of our society today. "The Smallville that everybody knows and loves, when we come back to it, those days are in the past," said Helbing. "And we address this in the pilot, but one of the characters says, 'What used to happen is people would leave the town and they would go get educated, they'd find their skill set, and then they'd bring that back to the town that helped raise them. And that doesn't happen anymore.' ... And so part of the story for the series is Clark and Lois coming back to Smallville. ... How do you save a small town that you love dearly, and that raised you?"

THE GREAT NORTH

"Bob's Burgers" Fans Can Sink Their Teeth Into Beef Tobin And His Family. By Ryan A. Berenz

Parks and Recreation devotees who adore Nick Offerman's ruggedly individualistic Ron Swanson character will want a huge slab of Beef Tobin (voiced by Offerman) in FOX's new animated comedy The Great North, which had a sneak preview last month and makes its official debut Feb. 14 as part of Animation Domination Sundays.

"From the day we chew ourselves off our mother's umbilical cord to the day a wild animal eats us, we are fighters born to wrestle nature itself into submission year after glorious year," Beef tells his kids as they gather at the breakfast table for meat and carbohydrates in their remote Alaskan cabin.

Beef, a single father of four and captain of the fishing boat The Mighty Kathleen, is determined to keep his kids close while he mourns the loss of his wife, Kathleen. Beef maintains the delusion that Kathleen was eaten by a bear, when, in reality, she ran off to Pennsylvania with her lover.

The Tobin kids know the truth about their mom, but still humor their father. Beef's oldest son, Wolf (Will Forte), is engaged to Honeybee Shaw (Dulcé Sloan), who drove all the way up from Fresno, California, and is often out of her element in Alaska. Teenage daughter Judy (Jenny Slate), overlooked middle son Ham (Paul Rust) and bear-suit-clad youngest son Moon (Aparna Nancherla) round out the Tobin clan.

Offerman's wife, Megan Mullally, voices Alyson Lefebvre, Judy's boss at the Point & Shoot Photography Studio at the Lone Moose Mall. Alanis Morissette voices herself in a little-too-ironic recurring guest role as Judy's best friend/inspiration who appears as a vision in the Northern Lights.

The Great North comes from Bob's Burgers writers/executive producers Wendy Molyneux and Lizzie Molyneux-Logelin, and the shows' similarities are evident. No word if there will be any Beefsquatch sightings in Alaska.

Queen Latifah Shares Her Passion
On The Revamp Of The '80s Thriller.

By Kate Hahn

Queen Latifah brings her quiet confidence and don't-mess-with-me vibe to this contemporary reimagining of the '80s TV thriller The Equalizer. She's Robyn McCall, an ex-CIA officer finished with a rigged system where only the privileged get justice. "We see so many people with money and power doing whatever the hell they want," Latifah says. "You watch a story on the news and say, 'Someone should do something about that.' That's Robyn McCall." Here are five more reasons the Oscar nominee is so passionate about the show.

1. THIS TIME, THE EQUALIZER IS A BLACK WOMAN Edward Woodward played Robert McCall in the original series; two films (2014, 2018) based on it starred Denzel Washington. "This is exciting for girl power, especially in this time where we see a lot of imbalance," says Latifah, who notes women are working at every level behind the scenes.

2. IT'S PERSONAL Filming in her home state of New Jersey, on streets she walked down with her family, reminds Latifah of life lessons she learned from her father, a police officer: "How to respect guns, and stick up for people who couldn't stick up for themselves. As kids, my brother and I went through that, so we never liked bullies." In the premiere, Robyn helps a young girl who's on the run, framed for a crime and watching her future slip away — someone who would've touched Latifah's late mother, a teacher.

3. MCCALL'S A BOSS AT WORK BUT NOT AT HOME Latifah loves the juxtaposition of a woman who is aces professionally but flummoxed by her teen daughter (Laya DeLeon Hayes). "Robyn is not a superhero. She's strong, cool, skilled, tough but empathetic — and completely thrown off balance when dealing with her 15-year-old." Robyn's Aunt Vi (Lorraine Toussaint) helps.

4. SHE CAN REALLY BE PART OF THE ACTION As an avid motorcyclist, Latifah's always ready to hop on Robyn's BMW, but it doesn't stop there: "We shoot, we run, we fight, things explode."

5. ROBYN DOESN'T WORK ALONE McCall's former boss, William Bishop (Chris Noth), is a mentor: "He protects her; she protects him," Latifah says. And Robyn builds a team that includes martial arts expert and sniper Melody "Mel" Bayani (Liza Lapira) and hacker Harry Keshegian (Adam Goldberg). "Not everything is end-of-the-world. We laugh and have fun."

The Untold Story

CLARICE

Rebecca Breeds Stars In A New Chapter Of The "Silence Of The Lambs" Saga. By Ryan A. Berenz

There's no complex story behind the inspiration for the new CBS drama Clarice.

Executive producer Alex Kurtzman says he woke up one morning and asked, "Where is Clarice Starling? She's one of the greatest heroes of the past 30 years."

Starling is the FBI cadet who cracked the case of serial murderer Buffalo Bill in Thomas Harris' 1988 novel The Silence of the Lambs and was played by Oscar winner Jodie Foster in the unforgettable 1991 film adaptation.

Stepping into the title role for Clarice is Australian actress Rebecca Breeds (The Originals), who was a youngster when the film was first released and finally got around to watching it a few years ago.

"I didn't watch it until about five years ago because I'm a wimp and I thought I was going to be way too scared by it," Breeds says. "And I finally got the guts one night and watched it, and absolutely loved it. It wasn't just scary for the sake of being scary. It was incredibly intelligent and clever and thrilling."

Clarice aims to follow suit, but with a spotlight on a complex character that has often been overshadowed by the charismatic Hannibal Lecter. Breeds senses that Clarice's time has come. "She's not strong despite being a woman, she's strong because she is a woman," Breeds says. "Strength and femininity, and what that looks like, I think it's the right time to be able to explore that and to do it justice."

Breeds knows she has big shoes to fill in this role, but she's going straight to the source material for Clarice. "I think Jodie would've done what I've done, which is that we've both referenced the book," Breeds says. "I'm referencing the Clarice character that Thomas Harris created, and there's just so much gold with her internal thought process and her history in the book that you don't really have to hunt for anything. It's all there. All you have to do is embody that."

One element Breeds did try to connect to Foster's portrayal is in her Appalachian accent. "The people watching it might see echoes of the Clarice that they know through the voice, and I think that will be a really helpful tool to marry the two worlds together and to guide everyone into this new interpretation of this character and this world," Breeds says.

Clarice is set in 1993, a year after the events of The Silence of the Lambs. ("I have a pager! I've never used one of those before," Breeds says of returning to that era.) Agent Starling has recently returned to the field, and her investigative techniques often put her at odds with Deputy Assistant Attorney General Paul Krendler (Michael Cudlitz, The Walking Dead), who still harbors some resentment for her from the Buffalo Bill case. "She's very much about intuition and her nose for a case," Breeds says. "He doesn't understand that she has a gift."

Is Breeds ready to be greeted with imitations of Anthony Hopkins' Lecter voice for the next few years? "Definitely! In fact, that's how I found out I got the role," Breeds says. "I had a call from [executive producer] Jenny Lumet and Alex, and the first thing I heard them say was, 'Hello, Clarice.' And I was like, 'Oh, my God! Sweet! I got the role!' It will always be welcomed."

WHITNEY HOUSTON & BOBBI KRISTINA: DIDN'T WE ALMOST HAVE IT ALL

New Documentary
Shares The Brilliant
Talent And Troubled Life
Of A Superstar And Her
Beloved Daughter.

By Barb Oates

Nine years ago this month, fans around the world were inconsolable after hearing the shocking news that Whitney Houston was found dead in her bathtub at the Beverly Hills Hilton Hotel. Cocaine and heart disease were cited as causes that led to her accidental drowning. She was just 48. Then just three years later, in 2015, Whitney's only child, Bobbi Kristina, was found in her home bathtub unresponsive. She was kept alive on life support for six months, and died July 26 at the young age of 22. In this two-hour intimate documentary, friends and family celebrate their beautiful memories, while revisiting some of the stars' ups and downs.

Among those family and friends featured in the documentary is Brandi (Lil B) Burnside-Boyd, Whitney's goddaughter and Love & Hip Hop cast member. She described losing Whitney as "the most heartbreaking and devastating thing to ever happen," and then losing Krissy as just "unbearable." Here she gives us more insight into the beautiful light these women were.

Why was it important for you to participate in the documentary, and what did you want to make sure people knew about them?

Brandi (Lil B) Burnside-Boyd: In their absence, it was very important for me to be a part of this documentary and speak up for them. They would want me to do that, especially to share aspects of my godmother and Krissy that sometimes get lost in all the negative things that people choose to discuss about them. Like how great of a mother Whitney was and how much she and Krissy loved each other.

On loving their fans ...

They were two of the most caring people in the world. They cared deeply about their fans and all the positive people in this world, and had a real soft spot for children, especially the less fortunate. They were both very giving people.

On negative press ...

There was so much good in them that is never mentioned or discussed. All you ever heard highlighted or talked about were their struggles. So, it was important to me, someone who loved them dearly, to be a part of a balanced project that reminds the world of just how wonderful they both were and just how much we lost when they left us.

Fondest memory of Whitney ...

We were at Michael Bolton's charity dinner, and me and my godmother were all dressed up sitting at our table where they served us all this food. My mom was sitting on the right of me and my Whitney was on the left. She blesses the table, then I picked up my fancy fork and put the spaghetti in my mouth. The food was so bad, I instantly spit it out. My mother looked at me and was very upset, saying, "Brandi, you have manners. What is wrong with you?! You're in big trouble!" My godmother said, "There's nothing wrong with my baby. This @$$% is nasty. The only people in trouble is the cooks! Baby, you want a burger? We gonna go get some burgers and fries.

Godmommy is not mad at you. They done lost their damn mind serving us this!"

Whitney was her happiest ...

When we were spending family time together. When there were no cameras around, just Krissy and the rest of us, who loved her with our whole hearts. She just enjoyed good food and laughs, telling jokes and staying up late talking until sunrise.

Krissy was her happiest with her mommy ...

[On a trip to the beach], the car was so full. Krissy was in the front with me. Whitney was in the back with Uncle Ray. It was tight and Krissy said, "Mom, you guys can follow us with a driver." Whitney was like, "HELL TO THE NAH! We all rolling together, now turn that radio up." We had so much fun at the Santa Monica Pier. We ate pizza, hot dogs, ice cream, cotton candy and popcorn. We rode bumper cars and were crashing into each other. We had the best powwows, while walking and talking on the beach. The sun was so beautiful. It was just so much love and no negativity at all. Krissy was the happiest person that day, knowing she was loved and feeling safe with her mommy. That was always the case. Even if she wanted space sometimes, she was never wanting to be too far away from her comfort zone, which was her mommy.

THE LONG ISLAND SERIAL KILLER: A MOTHER'S HUNT FOR JUSTICE

Kim Delaney Stars In This Harrowing And Heartbreaking Story. By Barb Oates

BARELY RECOGNIZABLE! KIM DELANEY BIO-FILE

General Hospital (2020-present)

The Oath (2018-19)

Army Wives (2007-12)

NYPD Blue (1995-2003)

All My Children (1981-84)

Kim Delaney is no stranger to murder investigations, having starred as Detective Diane Russell on the long-running procedural NYPD Blue. She's no stranger to Lifetime, either, starring in over 100 episodes on the net's popular drama Army Wives. This month she returns to Lifetime in the original movie The Long Island Serial Killer: A Mother's Hunt for Justice as Mari (pronounced Mary) Gilbert, a mother whose tireless acts of courage led to the discovery of multiple bodies believed to be murdered by a serial killer.

"I love true stories," Delaney says of the project. "And crazy enough, I like serial killer stories I've read before. This touched me on a couple levels, but the primal level was a mother fighting for her child against a lot of odds. That pure passion, that mama bear ... that rare person who just wouldn't take 'no' for an answer."

In 2010, Mari's daughter Shannan, a sex worker, vanished after going to meet a client on Long Island's Oak Beach. Shannan made a 911 call to police that night begging for help, saying that someone was trying to kill her. As Mari relentlessly pressured police to not overlook her daughter's disappearance, they eventually found the bodies and remains of possibly 19 people tossed along (or nearby) Ocean Parkway in Long Island, the works of a single or multiple serial killers.

Quarantined in Canada for two weeks before filming began, Delaney spent that time culling through research on these cases.

"It was a luxury in a big way, because I had all that time to just delve into the character and the circumstances," Delaney shares. "I have a couple friends that are detectives back in New York from my NYPD days, and they said [Mari] just had a lot of spunk and never gave up. A lot of people, I think, are intimidated, and they just take that 'no' and retreat. She was not that kind of person from my understanding. The crazy part is the end of her life, and how her other daughter ended up killing her. It's so tragic all the way through."

While the killer (or killers) remains at large to this day, many of the other victims' families credit Mari for giving them closure.

"She ended up fighting for all of these women and their families," Delaney concludes. "But it's very scary [that the killer hasn't been found] — where is he and what is he? Is he dead? They've reopened the case again, which I think is fabulous."

Guilty Pleasures Welcome

FAST FOODIES

A Culinary Competition And Celebration Of America's Favorite Fast Foods. By Barb Oates

Jeremy Ford and Bobby Lee

Taco Bell's Nachos BellGrande. Culver's ButterBurger. Chick-fil-A's Chicken Sandwich (extra sauce, please). McDonald's Sausage McMuffin With Cheese. Name a fast-food restaurant, and most people can tell you their favorites in seconds. Surely, everyone has a guilty pleasure go-to item they've indulged in once in a while, right? Well, truTV's new series Fast Foodies puts a fun spin on that premise.

The initial idea for the show was based around people's love of fast food, and a subculture that exists of people who are trying to re-create it at their homes.

"We're leaning into the fact that fast food, if you eat it or not, everybody typically has a memory around it. Whether it was when they were a kid or if it was kind of the dirty little secret, of what you were eating when nobody else was watching," showrunner Michael Rucker explains. "That really galvanized the whole show as it was about the food that people do understand compared to maybe fine dining, and then showing how it can be inspirational at the same time."

The setup of the series has award-winning chefs Kristen Kish (Top Chef), Jeremy Ford (Top Chef) and Justin Sutherland (Iron Chef) preparing a celebrity's favorite fast-food item in Round 1. In the pilot episode, Community's Joel McHale stops by and challenges the chefs to re-create his favorite. In Round 2, the chefs get to turn that item into something completely unique, while still maintaining the original flavors. It's here where the creativity and fun really begin as these chefs hit it out of the park with their creations (poppyseed crisp! tomato foam! dill tuile!). "One of my favorite lines from the whole entire episode, and the series, quite honestly, was when Joel said, 'I want to be on this show every single episode,'" Rucker concludes. "That's the feeling and the vibe that we were going for — that as a viewer, you're like, 'I want to go and hang out with these three world-class chefs and a celebrity.' It's unlike other food shows that have a competition element to it."

A 400-Year-Old Story

THE BLACK CHURCH: THIS IS OUR STORY, THIS IS OUR SONG

A Moving And Lyrical History Of A Powerful Force In Black American Life. By Meredith Ennis

Henry Louis Gates Jr. (R)
with Jennifer Hudson

As part of PBS' Black History Month programming lineup, Henry Louis Gates Jr. hosts this two-part exploration of the 400-year-old story of the Black church in America. Over four hours, Gates traces the history of the church, from its critical role in the survival of enslaved people brought to this country to a position that Rev. Al Sharpton describes as "the epicenter of Black life."

Historically, the church has been seen as a source of liberation and freedom, and as the heart of the social justice movements that have shaped the history of Black Americans. But that is only part of the story. These days, the church is also at a crossroads, with its legacy of confronting racism not necessarily carrying over to issues such as sexism, anti-homosexual viewpoints, abuse, environmental justice and more. The documentary not only looks at where the church came from, but also where it is heading today.

In addition to having a leading role in the political and social history of the United States, the church is also the birthplace of some of the most "sublime music the world has ever heard," according to Gates. That music is featured throughout the documentary, from classic gospel to disco's gay anthems, formed (in Gates' words) when sacred "churchy" vocals joined secular club rhythms.

Interviewed in the series are luminaries such as Sharpton, Oprah Winfrey, John Legend, Jennifer Hudson, gospel star BeBe Winans, scholar Cornel West and others.

He's Back At It!

TY BREAKER New Home Improvement Show Has Ty Pennington Adding Some Spicy-Fun Banter. By Damian Holbrook

To move or to improve – that is the question in this clever twist on the Love It or List It concept headlined by veteran handyman Ty Pennington. But even though his name is in the title, he's not going it alone. "I wanted a show where it wasn't just the designer making all the choices and then me doing all the grunt work," he says.

In each episode, the Extreme Makeover: Home Edition alum competes with one of three HGTV designers – Alison Victoria (Windy City Rehab), Grace Mitchell (One of a Kind) or Sabrina Soto (The High Low Project) – to help unhappy homeowners. While Pennington works up renovation plans that would update the current space, the designer scouts out a new place that addresses specific needs, anything from more storage to better flow.

To give his vision the edge, "I climbed into their lives," Pennington admits. "I have camped in their backyard. I have used their private shower to understand what shampoos and conditioners they like. I've done therapy sessions with them."

Once the homeowners choose which option they prefer, the built-in battle turns into teamwork. No matter whose pitch is picked, Pennington and his rival tackle the project together. "As talented as we all are, another person's vision and opinion can make your design even better," he says. (Or, as he phrased it to Victoria in the premiere episode: "I'm the beer, you're the champagne. We make it work.")

Still, he admits that pulling rank and busting the other's chops are part of the prize. "I just love that we have verbal, spicy banter you don't get on every HGTV show. I wanted to bring a little realness."

He's also bringing some heart. In an episode last month, Pennington and Mitchell help a family of six that had outgrown their three-bedroom house. "The kids are no longer able to share rooms, and you start to feel for them, especially if you grew up sharing a room with a brother," he notes. "There's also couples that are in love [on Ty Breaker], and you see this is not about just a room or a house to them – this is their first home together. So, yeah, [this show is] really all the things that I love."

YOUNG ROCK See What The Rock Had Cookin' In His Early Years With This Comedy. By Jeff Pfeiffer

Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson has certainly led an interesting adult life between his stint as a beloved WWE Superstar and ensuing transition into one of the biggest movie box-office draws on the planet. But his childhood and early adult years are also rife with stories, and the semiautobiographical, 11-episode single-camera comedy Young Rock draws from those.

The series is inspired by the different chapters and memorable characters of Johnson's formative years – from growing up in a strong and resilient family, to being surrounded by the wild characters of his professional wrestling family, to playing football at the University of Miami.

Johnson himself will appear in each episode as the narrator. Portraying him at various ages are: Adrian Groulx as Dwayne (a.k.a. Dewey) age 10, honest, headstrong, impressionable and bold; Bradley Constant as Dwayne age 15, who does his best to fit in as a normal teenager, but his size and full mustache have his classmates convinced he's an undercover cop; and Uli Latukefu as Dwayne ages 18-20, a superstar talent who has just been recruited to play football on a full scholarship at powerhouse University of Miami but whose life is put at a crossroads by a devastating injury.

THE WALKING DEAD

Catching Up With The Series' Most Colorful Character, Princess, As We Head Into The Final Six Episodes Of Season 10.

By Barb Oates

It's been quite a wait for the return of one of TV's most popular series, but the final six episodes of Season 10 are finally here. We last left the bleak world of the walking dead with all of our favorite survivors intact and alive (not something fans are usually familiar with). Let's take a minute, however, to refresh your memory as to where things left off. The war with the Whisperers is over now that Beta is dead. Carol led the horde (and almost herself) off that cliff, and ended up bonding with Lydia. Maggie and a hooded ninja saved Gabe. And Eugene, Ezekiel and Yumiko – on their quest to find Stephanie – meet up with the colorful, quirky, constant talker Princess (Paola Lázaro) before ultimately getting trapped in a trainyard filled with soldiers in white armor who we assume are from the Commonwealth.

Just days before the holiday, we caught up with Lázaro, who was on break in Houston with her family. Here she shares more on getting the part, what's next for Princess and that amazing pink coat.

Tell us about getting the role and the response you've been receiving from fans.

Paola Lázaro: When I got the call, I fell to my knees. I just had worked so hard for it. For me it is a dream job. It totally is. In terms of the fandom. Oh my God. It's been a rough year for everyone. But her fandom and their kindness and their support has been something that has elevated me emotionally through this time.

Where is Princess' mindset at going into these next new episodes? What can you share?

I think some of what we're going to see is – she hasn't seen anybody in a year, which means she had survived by herself for a year. Which makes you wonder, there's got to be something tough or how does a person survive the apocalypse by themselves, for a whole year? So I'm excited for us to get deeper into how she survived that, and that all comes from her past. Who we are is always dictated, a lot of the time, by what happened to us when we were younger. Or in our early young adulthood. So I'm excited for us to see more of that, and seeing how the group reacts to the Commonwealth and to having their weapons taken from them at that last moment in Episode 16.

When you walk into wardrobe is it all black, and then there's your big pink fluffy coat? You've got to be the only one wearing pink on the show, right?

I think so. It's a big, old, fluffy jacket, and I call it "the sofa" because it's like putting a sofa on. And I absolutely love it, and the rest of the wardrobe. I just loved how closely the designers have stuck to the comic book in terms of the costumes. ... It's fun and unique and exciting to see a pop of color in such a gray, dark world.

Season 11 marks the end of the flagship show, The Walking Dead, but spinoffs are being planned (one with Carol and Daryl). Do you see an opportunity for Princess to carry on after The Walking Dead?

I'm not sure, but in terms of the comic book, my character survives to the end. So who knows? I'm just excited that we get to shoot 24 more episodes, and we get to spend this time together and really make the most of it and work as hard as we can to go out with a bang. And who knows what will happen in the storylines?

Road Warriors

The 2021 NASCAR Season Features More Right Turns. By Ryan A. Berenz

2021 Speedweeks at Daytona

- Feb. 9: Clash at Daytona Road Course (FS1)
- Feb. 11: Duels at Daytona (FS1)
- Feb. 14: Daytona 500 (FOX)

Road circuits are no longer a novelty in NASCAR racing, with the sport expanding competition on non-oval tracks for the 2021 season.

The 2021 Cup Series schedule includes seven road courses, with new stops at Circuit of the Americas in Austin, Texas; Road America in Elkhart Lake, Wisconsin; and the road courses at famed Daytona International Raceway and Indianapolis Motor Speedway. These four join the existing road races at Sonoma, Watkins Glen and Charlotte's ROVAL.

NASCAR will have a throwback event with Bristol Motor Speedway converted to a dirt track for its spring race, the first time since 1970 that the top series has raced on dirt. Nashville Superspeedway will also host its first Cup Series race since 1984.

Other noteworthy developments for the 2021 season:

- Alex Bowman takes over the No. 48 Hendrick Motorsports Chevy for the retired Jimmie Johnson. The No. 88, formerly driven by Bowman and Dale Earnhardt Jr., will not run in 2021.
- NBA legend Michael Jordan and driver Denny Hamlin are co-owners of the new 23XI Racing team, which fields the No. 23 Toyota driven by Bubba Wallace.
- Clint Bowyer retired after a 16-year Cup Series career and now joins Mike Joy and Jeff Gordon in the FOX broadcast booth. Chase Briscoe gets promoted from the Xfinity Series and drives the Stewart-Haas Racing No. 14 Ford formerly driven by Bowyer.
- Erik Jones takes over the iconic No. 43 for Richard Petty Motorsports.
- After being fired by Chip Ganassi Racing, Kyle Larson has been reinstated and drives the No. 5 Chevy for Hendrick Motorsports.
- Trackhouse Racing joins the NASCAR fray and fields the No. 99 Chevy with driver Daniel Suarez.
- The NASCAR All-Star Race moves to Texas Motor Speedway on June 13.
- Camping World returns as the title sponsor of the Truck Series, which it previously sponsored from 2009-18.

CRITIC PICK OF THE MONTH

Make It A Movie Night!

The horror genre comes head-to-head with some darkly comedic moments as director Christopher Landon (Happy Death Day, Happy Death Day 2U) gives us the twisted tale that is Freaky. Body-switching films are not new, but to get them to work you need actors who will embrace their roles. Vince Vaughn and Kathryn Newton are memorable choices who sell the switched-body premise and make for a memorably fun yet scary ride.

It's my pick of the month.

ACROSS & DOWN

By Donna Pettman

DIRECTIONS

Rearrange the letters in each group to form a word. Place the words into the diagram so that the same words read both across and down. (The first word across is the same as the first word down and so on.) The letter groups are not necessarily placed next to the row of the diagram in which they go.

GOLDEN TURKEYS

TCM 132, beginning at 8pm

CATCH A CLASSIC!

Some movies are so bad that they have become classics in their own right – films that must have their awfulness seen to be believed. Such is the case with the titles included in film critic Michael Medved and his brother Harry's 1980 book The Golden Turkey Awards, which spotlighted "turkeys" across various movie categories. Tonight on TCM, you can watch some of the films awarded Golden Turkeys by the Medveds (occasionally with some help from their readers): Plan 9 From Outer Space (1959, Readers' Choice for Worst Film); The Swarm (1978, Most Badly Bumbled Bee Movie); The Conqueror (1956, Worst Casting: John Wayne as Genghis Khan); Change of Habit (1969, Worst Performance as a Clergyman or Nun: Mary Tyler Moore); The Food of the Gods (1976, Worst Rodent Movie); and The Silver Chalice (1954, Most Embarrassing Film Debut: Paul Newman).

STAR OF THE MONTH: JOHN GARFIELD

TCM 132, beginning at 8pm

CATCH A CLASSIC!

Famed actor John Garfield is remembered each Tuesday this month on Turner Classic Movies with an evening of his films. Garfield did not have as long a career as he should have – in 1951, he was among those in Hollywood who were blacklisted during the "red scare," and he died the following year at age 39. But the actor left a memorable body of work, and is especially remembered for his frequent performances as brooding, working-class characters in often dark films. Tonight's lineup features a number of those appearances in crime dramas and film noirs, beginning with one of Garfield's most famous roles, costarring as a drifter alongside Lana Turner's femme fatale in the iconic noir The Postman Always Rings Twice (1946). Also tonight: Force of Evil (1948), He Ran All the Way (1951, Garfield's final film), Nobody Lives Forever (1946), East of the River (1940), Out of the Fog (1941) and Blackwell's Island (1939).
