■ When Is Next “Feud”?

I loved the series Feud: Bette and Joan, the story of Bette Davis and Joan Crawford, but I thought this was going to be a regular thing? Can you tell me when or if another one is planned? Thanks! — Tracy

It's been a bit, hasn't it? FX's acclaimed drama from creator Ryan Murphy debuted back in March 2017, if you can believe that! The series was renewed for a second season shortly thereafter, but it wasn't until earlier this year that FX finally announced the theme on which Season 2 would be based — Capote's Women, which will be an adaptation of Laurence Leamer's book Capote's Women: A True Story of Love, Betrayal, and a Swan Song for an Era. The story goes that after penning his books Breakfast at Tiffany's and In Cold Blood, Capote was crippled with a raging case of writer's block. He decided that his next most celebrated novel and his magnum opus would be based on the lives and scandals of his very rich friends, whom he dubbed his “swans.” Those women included socialites and actresses — the type of women who married aristocrats and owned dozens of homes (kind of like the Real Housewives). They were to be the subject of Capote's book, and an excerpt was published in Esquire in 1975. When the women recognized themselves in the very scandalous short story, they banished Capote from their inner circle forever. The story contained tales of infidelity, alcoholism, sexual assault and overall bad behavior. One of the anecdotes in the story was believed to be based on Gloria Vanderbilt, and after reading the story, she is said to have declared, “The next time I see Truman Capote, I am going to spit in his face.” Quite the ensemble cast is already associated with the series, including Tom Hollander as Capote, Calista Flockhart, Diane Lane, Naomi Watts, Chloë Sevigny, Molly Ringwald and possibly Demi Moore.

■ Looking For Magnum

Where is Magnum P.I.? I thought it maybe was coming back in October but still haven't seen it. Please tell me it wasn't canceled!!!! — Debbie

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY!

Notable TV series, episodes, networks and/or events celebrating anniversaries this month.

MEET THE PRESS

NBC's news/interview program is the longest-running American television series; it debuted Nov. 6, 1947, and continues airing Sunday mornings in most markets.

NBC BECOMES OFFICIAL NATIONAL TV BROADCASTER OF THE MACY'S THANKSGIVING DAY PARADE

Although the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade has a televised history dating as far back as an experimental broadcast in 1939, it found its familiar official national TV broadcast home on NBC beginning in 1953, where it has been ever since.

Feud: Bette and Joan

With the Vampire, and HBO quickly committed to a Season 2 of House of the Dragon after the prequel series debuted to the largest audience for any new original series in the network's history.

■ Congratulations!

Our September Reader Rewards winners of Puzzler's 50th anniversary of *M*A*S*H* issue were Mary Frances Mitchell, Barbara Guynes and Deirdre Calvey.

■ Delivery/Replacement Policy

We mail each issue of your magazine in enough time for it to arrive by the first of the month according to what is required by the United States Postal Service standards for delivery. If your magazine does not arrive in the first few days of the month, you must contact us within 15 days (i.e., by Nov. 15) to request a replacement copy. Email us at dishletters@ntvbmedia.com (include your name and address), call 1-888-333-5388, or write us at OnDISH Magazine, 9275 N. 49th St., Suite 100, Brown Deer, WI 53223.

No need to worry, Debbie, but you do owe some thanks to NBC: The network rescued the show from cancellation by CBS. The series will return midseason (January-March of next year; no date has been announced yet). The renewal was only for 10 episodes for this season and next versus the typical 20. It looks like the cast and tone of the show will remain intact, as most of the creative team is still onboard. Let's hope fans come back and keep watching!

■ New Season Announcements

I wish there was a way to know if a network was going to renew a new series before I started watching it. It helps in deciding whether you want to commit to watching a new series if you know there will be multiple seasons. Why do some networks seem to know this and announce that a series is renewed even before it's started? I wish they all had that confidence. — Carole

Clearly, a lot goes into making decisions on what shows get renewed, be it advertising, ratings, international appeal, finances, casting contracts and more. It is a bit of a growing trend to see networks announce renewals before a series has aired. AMC just did that last month with Anne Rice's Interview

50 YEARS AGO

FIRST THANKSGIVING DAY NFL GAME TV BROADCAST

A long-running Thanksgiving Day TV tradition began in 1953 when the now-defunct DuMont Television Network broadcast the matchup between the Detroit Lions and Green Bay Packers.

GREAT PERFORMANCES

Since Nov. 4, 1972, this PBS series has brought the finest in performing arts to viewers. A new episode premieres Nov. 4, featuring a New York Philharmonic concert that celebrates the reopening of Lincoln Center's fully renovated David Geffen Hall.

35 YEARS AGO

ESPN SUNDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL

With its Nov. 8, 1987, coverage of the game between the New York Giants and New England Patriots, ESPN became the first cable network to broadcast a regular-season NFL matchup. Sunday Night Football continued on ESPN until Jan. 1, 2006.

30 YEARS AGO

SEINFELD: "THE CONTEST"

Cocreator Larry David won an Emmy for writing this classic episode of Jerry Seinfeld's sitcom, which originally aired on NBC Nov. 18, 1992, and found Jerry and the gang hilariously trying to prove who could be "master of their domain." WATCH IN 2022: Seinfeld airs frequently in syndication and on Comedy Central; it also streams on Netflix.

SERIES FINALE!

“The Walking Dead” Ends Its Reign (At Least For Now).

“It’s going to be pee-pee pants city here real soon,” as AMC’s juggernaut The Walking Dead concludes after over 10 years and 177 episodes. Fans of the postapocalyptic thriller may smile remembering that was one of Negan’s (Jeffrey Dean Morgan) many classic lines. The series’ final episode airs on AMC Sunday, Nov. 20. Norman Reedus, who has played Daryl Dixon from the series’ start, shared what that last day of shooting was like. “I walked out with my entire outfit. I didn’t change clothes. I was hugging people and crying and saying goodbye to everybody that I just ended up driving home in my outfit. So I have all of it.” In addition to his costume, Reedus also confessed to having about eight of his character’s famed crossbows, among other set decor, which he’s taken over the years.

Lauren Cohan, who plays Maggie, shared: “I remember a lot of trees, a lot of running in the woods, a lot of sweat. But what you really remember is the sense of people. Our tribe, our little sweaty team. And just how much everyone enjoyed being there and knew that this was once in a lifetime.” But Daryl’s and Maggie’s stories, along with Carol’s, Negan’s — even Rick and Michonne’s — are far from over, as AMC has multiple spinoff series in the works. There is hope and a lot of possibility ahead!

A WALTONS THANKSGIVING

Fifty years after The Waltons premiered on CBS, the family is back on television in The CW movie A Waltons Thanksgiving (Sunday, Nov. 20). Original John-Boy Richard Thomas serves as narrator and introduces the tale by wishing viewers a Happy Thanksgiving and delivering a comforting message before the action shifts to Thanksgiving week 1934. The entire family is buzzing about the upcoming harvest festival fair. Matriarch Olivia (Bellamy Young) will be judging the pie-making contest, while some of the Walton kids will be participating in the talent contest. The bulk of the action takes place the day of the fair, and the drama is a mix of low-stakes events like trying to successfully fish for a duck toy in a carnival game and more serious issues like finding a child who gets lost in the woods. Along the way, important life lessons are learned, many at the Walton dining room table. This is wholesome, sentimental entertainment for the entire family, a slice of life full of nostalgia for simpler times in rural America. Fans of the series should find much to enjoy.

5 QUESTIONS WITH JODIE SWEETIN OF LIFETIME'S "MERRY SWISSMAS" By Ryan A. Berenz

For More Holiday Programming, See Page 18

'Tis the season for heartwarming Christmas movies featuring former stars of Full House! Jodie Sweetin does her part in Lifetime's Merry Swissmas (Saturday, Nov. 5), where she plays Alex, a Chicago architect who travels to Switzerland to spend the holidays with family and friends at her mother's new inn. While there, Alex gets introduced to Swiss Christmas customs, learns to let go of old grudges and finds a handsome single dad to kiss ... eventually.

"They are very, very strict with how many kisses are allowed," Sweetin says of the Christmas rom-com genre. "You've got to have the buildup moments of tension for the payoff moments at the end."

Sweetin made the buildup worth the wait for this edition of our "5 Questions."

1 There's no fake snow in Merry Swissmas. Did you really film this in winter? It was February, and we were north of Montreal in the Laurentian Mountains. It was absolutely stunningly beautiful there. All that snow was 100% real. We got a ton of snow when we were shooting, and there were night shoots out there that were cold. This California girl was not prepared for it, but the Christmas vibe that comes off of it with the real snow is just magical.

2 Did you get to go down the hill in the sledding scenes? I got to do the sledding hill! It was really fun. It was really fast, and we sent some crew members down before and we had our stunt guys and everything. Everyone was kind of a big kid for the day when we were doing the sledding scene.

3 Where do you stand on the subject of ugly Christmas sweaters? I love nothing more than a good ridiculous Christmas sweater. When I decorate my house for Christmas, I have two Christmas trees, and I am slightly obnoxious about the decorating. So go for it! Wear the ugly sweater! Rock it!

4 What's the coolest Christmas gift you've ever received? In my 20s, we were joking about Christmas presents, and I said how I always wanted that Barbie motor home, but Santa could never quite get his hands on it. So that year, as a joke, my mom bought me the Barbie motor home! Of course, because she works at a school, we turned around and donated it.

5 Do you have any fond memories of the Full House Christmas specials? I remember the one we did when the family gets stuck in the Reno airport, I think maybe the first season. We get stuck at the airport and Santa comes. I think Uncle Jesse falls asleep on the conveyor belt and winds up outside. It was something ridiculous. There were plenty of ugly Christmas sweaters to go around, that's for sure.

NETWORK

HAPPY 50TH, HBO!

Celebrating 50 Years Of Firsts With TV's Top Premium Network.

The television landscape looked quite different on Nov. 8, 1972, the day HBO launched and cemented its status as the oldest and longest continuously operating subscription television service. At the time, there was little fanfare or press. The inaugural telecast was an NHL game between the New York Rangers and Vancouver Canucks from Madison Square Garden, and immediately following was Paul Newman and Henry Fonda's Sometimes a Great Notion. HBO was off and running. The network continued to be a TV pioneer in the decades since. It was the first television service to be directly transmitted and distributed to individual cable systems. The first to push so many boundaries and talk so honestly. HBO created the blueprint for premium channel pay television services. And the stars, viewers, awards and history-making followed. Here we look back at HBO's vast library of series/miniseries and rank the Top 50 to date.

50 ENTOURAGE (2004-11)

49 MILDRED PIERCE (2011)

48 DEF COMEDY JAM
(1992-97)

47 FRAGGLE ROCK
(1983-87)

46 EXTRAS
(2005-07)

45 EASTBOUND & DOWN (2009-13)

44 THE JINX: THE LIFE AND DEATHS OF ROBERT DURST (2015)

43 MR. SHOW WITH BOB AND DAVID
(1995-98)

42 FLIGHT OF THE CONCHORDS (2007-09)

41 SHARP OBJECTS (2018)

40 THE RIGHTEOUS GEMSTONES (2019-Present)

39 THE KIDS IN THE HALL

(1988-95)
Smart, eccentric, bonkers. This groundbreaking sketch series, exec produced by Lorne Michaels, went places Saturday Night Live wouldn't dare during its five-season run (the final two on CBS late-night). The Canadian comedy troupe of the same name (Dave Foley, Bruce McCulloch, Kevin McDonald, Mark McKinney and Scott Thompson) were as committed when embodying secretaries and prostitutes as they were while playing gay icon Buddy Cole, the resentful Headcrusher, "evil" Simon and Hecubus or chatty child Gavin. And as seen in their 2022 Prime Video revival, their chemistry is still unrivaled.

38 TALES FROM THE CRYPT
(1989-96)

Like most anthologies, the episodes of this horror series vary in quality, but they also serve as a showcase for some outstanding talent on both sides of the camera. The cast includes Bill Paxton, Joe Pesci, John Lithgow, Kirk Douglas, Catherine O'Hara and Patricia Arquette, while Robert Zemeckis, Richard Donner, Arnold Schwarzenegger, Tom Hanks and William Friedkin directed installments.

37 THE PACIFIC (2010)

After the success of the Emmy-winning 2001 miniseries Band of Brothers, HBO again worked with executive producers Steven Spielberg and Tom Hanks for this equally compelling and acclaimed 10-part companion drama that moved its focus to the actions of the U.S. Marines Corps in the Pacific theater. It won eight Emmys, one more than Brothers, including for Outstanding Miniseries.

36 THE NEWSROOM (2012-14)
Aaron Sorkin brought together an extraordinary cast of characters led by Jeff Daniels as lead anchor Will McAvoy to tell the tale of the inner workings of a television newsroom. With stories exploding around every corner, the cast was able to put a personal face on the men and women who strived for excellence in a harshly competitive media landscape. The Newsroom was nominated for six Emmys during its run, with Daniels taking home the only win for Lead Actor in a Drama Series at the 2013 Emmys.

35 TRACEY ULLMAN'S SHOW (2016-18)
Legendary comedian Tracey Ullman's sketch comedy series hilariously offers a glimpse of British life for its inhabitants, both everyday folks and famous people. The viciously funny show was nominated for three Emmy Awards.

34 THE NIGHT OF (2016)
College student Naz Khan (Riz Ahmed) hooks up with a woman who is found murdered, and he is accused of killing her. John Stone (John Turturro) is the lawyer who defends him. It's a simple premise, but this tense and riveting crime drama expertly keeps you guessing for the duration. The two leads are exceptional, as is the writing. It was nominated for 13 Emmys and won five, including Ahmed for Outstanding Lead Actor in a Limited Series.

33 TREME (2010-13)
After The Wire, David Simon shifted his gaze and told the story of life in another great American city, New Orleans. This drama takes its name from a neighborhood in the city and begins three months after Hurricane Katrina made landfall, telling the story of a variety of residents trying to rebuild their lives, homes and culture. It's powerful, moving and full of great performances from the likes of Khandi Alexander, John Goodman, Kim Dickens, Rob Brown and many more.

30 JOHN ADAMS (2008)
The most lauded miniseries in Emmy history — with 13 wins — tells the tale of the founding of the United States through the life of its tempestuous, ambitious and visionary second president. What is central to the tale is Adams' loving bond and partnership with his wife Abigail, and both Paul Giamatti and Laura Linney won Emmys for their stellar work in the seven-episode series.

32 ANGELS IN AMERICA (2003)

31 WESTWORLD (2016-Present)
Inspired by the 1973 sci-fi flick of the same name, Jonathan Nolan and Lisa Joy created this highly stylized, dystopian series that became an instant hit for HBO. An outstanding cast including Anthony Hopkins, Jeffrey Wright, Evan Rachel Wood, Thandiwe Newton and Ed Harris brought to life a futuristic theme park where humans can play out their Wild West fantasies with robotic hosts. After four seasons, Westworld continues to keep viewers navigating a complex, dizzying maze of narratives about AI's potential consequences for humanity.

LAST WEEK TONIGHT WITH JOHN OLIVER (2014-Present)
The British expat insists that his impactful Sunday night show is comedy not journalism, but it's easy to imagine 60 Minutes infused with a wacky sense of humor as his rapier wit and righteous anger unpacks issues ranging from miners' safety to voting rights and nuclear waste. The result: Seven straight Emmy victories as Outstanding Variety Talk Series.

THE LARRY SANDERS SHOW (1992-98)

Just three months after Johnny Carson ended his historic run on The Tonight Show, former frequent guest host Garry Shandling debuted his merciless showbiz satire about a fictional late-night show and its neurotic host, Larry Sanders. "No flipping" was Larry's catchphrase whenever his show went to commercial, but critics and viewers flipped over the unsparing behind-the-scenes look at how his celebrity guests (ranging from Jim Carrey and Ellen DeGeneres to Carol Burnett) behaved — often badly — when the cameras were off. Tensions between Larry and the network, and conflicts involving temperamental producer Artie (Emmy winner Rip Torn), much-abused sidekick Hank "Hey now!" Kingsley (Jeffrey Tambor) and the writing/producing staff generated memorably biting comedy. In the final season, the network threatens to replace Larry with Jon Stewart — who less than a year later would begin his own iconic reign on The Daily Show.

27 I MAY DESTROY YOU (2020)

This 2020 limited series starring British screenwriter/actress Michaela Coel might just destroy you, but that's a good thing since there's hilarious comedy and heart-stopping drama in this story of shaken novelist Arabella Essiedu (Coel). And Coel's jaw-droppingly stunning performance truly reveals a new TV star is born.

26 INSECURE (2016-21)

Born from creator/star Issa Rae's acclaimed web series Awkward Black Girl, the comedy takes us inside life for nonprofit employee Issa Dee (Rae) as she tries to make a difference in the world and make the most of her busy Los Angeles life. While Issa is the core of the series, the show also explores the close female friendships in her life, primarily corporate lawyer bestie Molly Carter (Yvonne Orij). While they both experience romantic ups and downs, it's their closeness as friends that's often put to the test throughout the show's five seasons and is the true love story of this series.

25 EUPHORIA (2019-Present)

Essentially a teen drama, HBO's newer series could also be considered a cautionary horror tale for parents. Because the scary, ugly truth of youth is tapped like a keg in Sam Levinson's gritty look at life among a posse of mostly unsympathetic high schoolers. And while it's easy to focus on the harsh realism — drugs, drinking, sex, bullying, violence, gender and identity issues — there is also a startling beauty in the performances. Double Emmy winner Zendaya's heartbreaking Rue and an equally astounding Hunter Schafer as her partner Jules, along with Jacob Elordi's amoral jock Nate, will surely be considered youth television's icons of the era.

24 BIG LOVE (2006-11)

The late, great Bill Paxton introduced the world to what life was like as the patriarch of a fundamentalist Mormon family in Utah that practices polygamy. Having three wives — played by Jeanne Tripplehorn, Chloë Sevigny and Ginnifer Goodwin — along with three homes, seven kids and a twisted, dark family background, this dramatic exploration of an uneasy subject was a brilliant and emotional look at the bonds between one's family, relatives and society. Despite the subject, we still walked away rooting for the Henrickson family.

23

SILICON VALLEY (2014-19)

An insightful, scornful and merciless parody of Silicon Valley culture and tech bros, it is no surprise that Mike Judge (Office Space, King of the Hill) was a driving force behind this comedy. It cleverly skewers the ego, privilege and cluelessness that are often associated with its subjects. A cast of extremely funny people led by Thomas Middleditch, Kumail Nanjiani, Zach Woods, Matt Ross and Martin Starr keeps the laughs coming. Nominated for 41 Emmys during its run, it won two.

22 TRUE BLOOD (2008-14)

Alan Ball (Six Feet Under) returned to HBO to create this sexy, gory vampire fantasy/drama that's based on a series of novels by Charlaine Harris. Set in the fictional rural town of Bon Temps, Louisiana, it chronicles the life of telepathic waitress Sookie Stackhouse (Anna Paquin) as she begins a relationship with vampire Bill Compton (Stephen Moyer). An allegory for civil rights, there's plenty of beautiful people, supernatural creatures, family drama and small-town shenanigans. It's all somewhat bizarre, but highly entertaining.

21

CHERNOBYL (2019)

This meticulously realized miniseries tells the human stories behind 1986's Chernobyl Nuclear Power Plant explosion in the then-Soviet Union. At the center is brilliant ethical scientist Valery Legasov (a real person, played by Jared Harris), tapped to spearhead the seemingly impossible cleanup of the deadly, radiation-spewing, smoking ruin.

20 OZ (1997-2003)
Prestige television as we know it today was in its infancy when this prison drama created by Tom Fontana (Homicide: Life on the Street) debuted. Set at the fictional Oswald State Correctional Facility, Tim McManus (Terry Kinney) struggles to keep control of inmates in Emerald City, an extremely controlled environment in an experimental unit of the prison. The outstanding ensemble cast of guards and inmates includes Eamonn Walker, J.K. Simmons, Lee Tergesen, Edie Falco, Dean Cain and others. The series is brutal, violent, shocking and unforgettable.

15 DEADWOOD (2004-06)
Creator David Milch's profane, violent, dirty and critically acclaimed Western features a large ensemble cast fronted by Timothy Olyphant and a spectacular Ian McShane, whose saloon owner Al Swearengen is one of TV's most colorful, memorable characters. It pulled no punches in its depiction of life in that particular place and time, deservedly receiving 28 Emmy nominations and winning eight.

14 GIRLS (2012-17)
Created by a brilliant and brave Lena Dunham when she was only 25, this dramedy centers on four young women living in New York City: Hannah (Dunham), Marnie (Allison Williams), Jessa (Jemima Kirke) and Shoshanna (Zosia Mamet). Their trials and tribulations, including the volatility of their friendship, are poignant, compelling and often very funny. The series received 19 Emmy nominations, winning two.

THE LEFTOVERS (2014-17)
There's nothing else quite like this staggeringly unique, hauntingly poignant supernatural drama, a peerless series that takes your breath away. It is based on the novel by Tom Perrotta and created by the author and Los's Damon Lindelof. Justin Theroux and Carrie Coon lead the cast, with the latter delivering a performance for the ages. You won't be able to forget it.

19 THE WHITE LOTUS (2021-Present)
Creator, writer and director Mike White's hilarious, piercing and occasionally shocking dramedy about rich people and those who cater to them was one of 2021's biggest surprises. The entire cast is superb, but the standouts are Jennifer Coolidge as a woman trying to make peace with the death of her mother and Murray Bartlett as the resort's manager. The White Lotus won 10 Emmy Awards, the most of any series this year.

17 MARE OF EASTTOWN (2021)
A sensation after its April 2021 premiere, this searing and ultimately wrenching crime drama starring Kate Winslet as Mare Sheehan, a detective in Easttown, Pennsylvania, investigating the murder of a teenage girl, is enthralling from start to finish. The limited series captivated with its portrayal of Mare's challenging life living with her mother (the fabulous Jean Smart) and grandson along with the relationship with her new partner, the young and inexperienced Colin Hanks (a charming Evan Peters). Of the four Emmys it won (out of 16 nominations), three went to the deserving cast: Winslet, Peters and Julianne Nicholson, who plays Lori Ross, Mare's closest friend.

18 BIG LITTLE LIES (2017-Present)
Who was murdered at the elementary school fundraiser — and whodunit? Those are the riddles wrapped in a yoga mat at the start of this drama series about the secrets and lies within a group of women in wealthy Monterey whose children are in the same first-grade class. Based on the novel by Liane Moriarty, Season 1 flashes back to the first day of school where we meet the possible victim and killer played by a dream cast: Nicole Kidman, Reese Witherspoon, Laura Dern, Zoë Kravitz and Shailene Woodley. More twists happen in Season 2, including the casting of superstar Meryl Streep.

16 TRUE DETECTIVE (2014-Present)
When this crime drama anthology premiered in 2014, it felt like nothing else on TV. Starring Matthew McConaughey and Woody Harrelson as mismatched cops in Louisiana investigating a serial killer with links to the occult, and taking place over different time periods, Season 1 features a dark, disturbing and twisty investigation that takes viewers to isolated, mysterious and dangerous locales. Season 4, starring Jodie Foster, is in production.

12 BAND OF BROTHERS (2001)

More than 20 years later, this visceral 10-episode tour of duty with Easy Company in World War II remains the benchmark for war dramatizations and stories of bravery, camaraderie and sacrifice. From executive producers Tom Hanks and Steven Spielberg, this stirring technical triumph earned seven Emmys, including one for the casting of its massive ensemble, which features Damian Lewis, Ron Livingston, Donnie Wahlberg, Michael Cudlitz and Neal McDonough, to name just a few.

WATCHMEN (2019)

Seen by creator Damon Lindelof as a remix of the Alan Moore and Dave Gibbons comics on which it was based, this stunning and acclaimed nine-episode superhero drama certainly did justice to its beloved source material, while breaking new ground of its own. The series is set 34 years after the events of the comics and devises its own fascinating alternate historical timeline that also manages to comment on our own real-world history. Watchmen garnered 11 Emmy wins — including Outstanding Limited Series and an Outstanding Lead Actress in a Limited Series or Movie win for Regina King.

10 BOARDWALK EMPIRE (2010-14)

This period crime drama executive produced by Martin Scorsese and created by The Sopranos' Terence Winter lived up the gangster story by shifting the focus to 1920s Atlantic City and casting Steve Buscemi in the lead as kingpin Enoch "Nucky" Thompson. It boasts an impressive supporting cast, excellent production design, plus politics, Prohibition, gambling, government agents and plenty more. It was nominated for 57 Emmys and won 20, including for Outstanding Directing in a Drama Series for Scorsese.

9 CURB YOUR ENTHUSIASM (2000-Present)

Larry David can't seem to do anything right, and as far as fans are concerned, that's a pretty, pretty, pretty good thing. Alongside wife Cheryl David (Cheryl Hines) and best friends Susie Greene (Susie Essman) and Jeff Greene (Jeff Garlin), the improvised structure of the show lends itself to hilarious situations that have — for 11 seasons and counting — allowed Larry to prove there's no misunderstanding too awkward and no antic too wild.

6 BARRY (2018-Present)

Alec Berg (Seinfeld) and star Bill Hader somehow manage to perfectly balance black comedy, shocking violence and serious drama, becoming something that is unlike anything else on television. Hader is sensational as the title character, a hitman who becomes fixated on starting an acting career and leaving contract killing behind. Sarah Goldberg and Henry Winkler are just as good. Its three seasons have generated 44 Emmy nominations, including wins for Hader and Winkler.

7 VEEP (2012-19)

One of the 21st century's funniest shows, this sharp, hilarious and all-too-real political satire follows Vice President Selina Meyer (the incredible Julia Louis-Dreyfus) and her team as they work (and mostly fail) to leave a lasting legacy she can be proud of. The supporting cast is amazing. You'll laugh until you hurt. Louis-Dreyfus deservedly won six consecutive Emmys for her performance, and the series won a total of 17 from 68 nominations.

8 SUCCESSION (2018-Present)

Viewers have loved to hate the Roys, arguably the most notorious family on scripted television, since the series premiered. The dysfunctional (putting it mildly) and filthy rich family own global media and entertainment conglomerate Waystar Royco. Patriarch Logan (Brian Cox) is getting older. His kids, Kendall (Jeremy Strong), Siobhan (Sarah Snook), Roman (Kieran Culkin) and Connor (Alan Ruck), are screwups, leaving Logan uncertain about who should replace him, and when. The backstabbing, plotting and bad behavior make for drama you can't look away from. They might be awful human beings, but they make for perfect television. Succession has already amassed a whopping 48 Emmy nominations and 13 wins.

5 SEX AND THE CITY

(1998-2004)

The tale of Manhattanites Carrie (Sarah Jessica Parker), Miranda (Cynthia Nixon), Charlotte (Kristin Davis) and Samantha (Kim Cattrall) was born from Candace Bushnell's lifestyle column in The New York Observer. Over six seasons, the series followed the ladies' exploits through relationships, personal and professional triumphs and tribulations, countless cosmopolitan cocktails, and a whole lot of really expensive designer shoes. It was groundbreaking, iconoclastic TV, and one of the big reasons to get HBO in the late '90s. Its influence on pop culture can't be understated, and lackluster movies, spinoffs and changing attitudes can't dim the zsa zsa zsu of its original run.

4 SIX FEET UNDER

(2001-05)

The Fishers comprise one of television's most memorable dysfunctional families. Patriarch Nathaniel (Richard Jenkins) dies in the pilot, leaving the rest of his grieving family to try to operate their Los Angeles funeral home: mother Ruth (Frances Conroy), sons Nate (Peter Krause) and David (Michael C. Hall), and daughter Claire (Lauren Ambrose). The acting is sensational, and the dark but funny melodrama was nominated for 53 Emmys, winning nine. It also has, arguably, the best final episode in TV history.

3 GAME OF THRONES

(2011-19)

The fantasy series, adapted from George R.R. Martin's sprawling A Song of Ice and Fire series, became a household name when it debuted in 2011. For eight seasons, fans watched as warring factions of houses such as the dragon-trained Targaryens, the noble Starks and the cunning Lannisters vied for control of the Iron Throne. Though the final season left a conflicted divide among viewers, the show's sweeping stories and breathtaking battle scenes helped cement it as a pop culture juggernaut.

2 THE WIRE

(2002-08)

Frequently ranked as one of the best series of all time, creator (and former police reporter) David Simon's crime drama with a large ensemble cast probes institutions in Baltimore by examining the illegal drug trade, the port system, city government, education and the news media. Its deep dive into urban life is gripping and heartbreaking, and remains all too relevant today. The entire cast is stellar, especially the late Michael K. Williams, who plays stickup man Omar Little, a man with a code.

THE SOPRANOS

(1999-2007)

It's been 15 years since the series concluded and Journey's "Don't Stop Believin'" played through the final scene, but the legacy of David Chase's masterpiece still looms large today. The saga of New Jersey crime boss/waste management consultant Tony Soprano (James Gandolfini) rocked the TV landscape when it debuted, and its reputation has only improved in the time since. Gandolfini is spectacular as the bad guy you hate to love ("What kind of person can I be, where his own mother wants him dead?"), and Edie Falco is his equal as Tony's wife Carmela ("What's different between you and me is you're going to hell when you die!"). Complicating Tony's life is an ensemble of engrossing characters, from Tony's drug-addicted nephew Christopher (Michael Imperoli) to his conflicted shrink (Lorraine Bracco) to his overly entitled children (Robert Iler and Jamie-Lynn Sigler). The series expertly alternates between Tony's work and home lives, and it remains a titan of the small screen. Of its 112 Emmy nominations, it won 21, including two for Outstanding Drama Series.

It's A Christmas Listmas

HERE'S A ROUNDUP OF NEW HOLIDAY MOVIES AIRING THIS MONTH.

The holiday original movie market, once dominated by Hallmark Channel, has exploded over the years, and networks like Lifetime, Great American Family, UPtv and even streaming services have sprinkled into their lineup the magic of feel-good filmmaking. Here we look at the juggernauts of the genre and unwrap some of this month's top films with some of your favorite stars.

Hallmark Channel's COUNTDOWN TO CHRISTMAS

A Magical Christmas Village (Friday, Nov. 4)

Stars: Alison Sweeney (Days of Our Lives), Luke Macfarlane (Bros), Marlo Thomas (That Girl)

This magical holiday story has a vibrant Marlo Thomas (who will turn 85 this month!) starring as the mother to Alison Sweeney's character Summer. Tensions are tight between the two, but the real magic starts with an heirloom miniature Christmas village.

"When I read the script and started working on developing the story with Melissa Salmons, our writer, we just both loved the idea of going a little more into that fantastical, fantasy, fairy tale Christmas place and allowing a little magic to enter their lives," Sweeney tells us. "And then matching that with the real family dynamic of a relationship between Summer and her mom, Vivian, and the struggles that they deal with in real life, and keeping that very relatable and down-to-earth. And then just letting them all be affected by a little Christmas magic."

Sweeney, who is also an executive producer on the film, had no idea about the variety of Christmas villages and collectibles, or that people set aside an entire corner of their house for their villages. She said using the village is "a really lovely, subtle way to include magic in the Christmas theme."

A Christmas Spark

(Sunday, Nov. 27)

Stars: Jane Seymour and Joe Lando (Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman)

Fans of Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman will be thrilled to see Jane Seymour and Joe Lando reunite once again in what Seymour describes as a "cut above" the traditional holiday film, and a first of sorts. "They told me they'd never done [a holiday film] with someone my age where I'm the star of it, where it's my story, not the story of a 30-year-old finding love and losing love and all of that," Seymour shares. "There are a lot of people in their 50s, 60s, 70s, and especially women, who are just wondering, 'How do I go on with my life if I've lost my husband or I've lost my marriage or something? Who am I, and what's my identity?'" And that's the start of this inspiring story. For the 71-year-old exuberant Seymour, life couldn't be more busy with all of her projects, including trying to get a new pickup for Dr. Quinn, 30 years later. She's maintained her friendship with Lando for years — "Joe and I are very, very close friends" — and "all the actors are very happy to come in. ... Everyone loves it."

And, add us to that list too!

WHAT'S NEW, WHAT'S RETURNING AND JUST
WHAT TO WATCH
THIS MONTH

Cole Hauser
and Kelly Reilly

1 YELLOWSTONE

Sundays beginning Nov. 13
on PARAMOUNT NETWORK
SEASON PREMIERE!

Over 10 million viewers watched the Season 4 finale of TV's top-rated cable show in January and were thrilled when wild woman Beth Dutton (Kelly Reilly) finally wed longtime love Rip Wheeler (Cole Hauser) on her family's coveted Montana ranch. Because fans also appreciate cocreator Taylor Sheridan's sense of Western justice, they were equally happy to see Beth blackmail her adoptive brother, lawyer Jamie (Wes Bentley), into shooting his biological dad, who'd ordered a hit on the Duttons. (Beth then snapped pics of Jamie burying the body!) Yellowstone's producers keep plot info tighter than a cowboy's jeans, but we speculate on what's next for the land saga.

Where do we pick up?

"Episode 1 will immediately surprise everybody — where our story starts and what has happened," teases executive producer David C. Glasser. Could there be a small time-jump? Yes! Patriarch John Dutton's (Kevin Costner) race for governor has been decided. What new ways have he and Beth found to use Jamie?

Will we meet new baddies?

Yes, it sounds like Market Equities CEO Caroline Warner (Jacki Weaver), who vowed to put mole Beth in jail after she sabotaged the firm's development plans, will have company. Confident corporate shark Sarah Atwood (Dawn Olivieri, who also played James Dutton's sister Claire in the drama's prequel series 1883) is a new Montana arrival. Perhaps she is who Dutton sibling Kayce (Luke Grimes) was referring to when he said, "I saw the end of us" during his finale vision quest?

Does Rip find out what Jamie did when they were young?

Ranch boss Rip still doesn't know that his new wife got pregnant back when they were high school sweethearts — or that Jamie took Beth to abort Rip's child and the clinic sterilized her. The actors who play teen Beth and Rip (Kylie Rogers and Kyle Red Silverstein) are confirmed to appear again this season. Will that bomb finally go off?

Can we expect more bunkhouse drama?

With a new cowboy named Rowdy (Kai Caster) in the mix, we'd bet on more brawls. Plus, two bunkers have been upped to series regulars: ranch hand Teeter (Jen Landon) and Emily (Kathryn Kelly), Jimmy's (Jefferson White) fiancée.

Who and what else is new?

Country music singer-songwriter Lainey Wilson joins the cast as musician Abby, while actress Lilli Kay has been tapped for the role of Clara Brewer, a new assistant for one of the Duttons. And as if the series doesn't already showcase the most beautiful land in the U.S., Glasser promises, "We visit some new and amazing Montana locations." See you in Helena? — Kate Hahn

2 THE ENGLISH

Stream On: PRIME VIDEO
Available Friday, Nov. 11

NEW SERIES!

When we first meet Chaske Spencer's Eli Whipp (a name given to him by white people) in the unsparing, unique Western The English, he is giving orders to white soldiers in 1890 Middle America. The men listen to and respect Eli, who is Pawnee, something that marks this character as different from those often found in the genre.

Comparing Eli to someone played by Clint Eastwood or Paul Newman, Spencer notes how the character is akin to a man you'd see in an old Western, something that was appealing to him. "What I love about it [playing Eli] is kind of the throwback to the 'Man With No Name,'" he says.

Eli, who is battle-weary and has seen much death, is somber, stoic and calm. After his service to the U.S. Army is complete, he crosses paths with Lady Cornelia Locke (Emily Blunt), a woman who has just arrived in America and seeks revenge against the man who killed her son.

While vengeance drives Lady Cornelia, Eli is propelled by different forces. "I think what drove him was losing everything," he says. "He was a shell of a man when he decided to join up with the Army. He was just angry and sad and just wanted to hurt people."

The world the former soldier and Lady Cornelia inhabit is an unforgiving one, where shocking acts of violence can occur suddenly. Still, Spencer hopes that people are able to relax as they watch it. "I hope that people can just tune out and have fun while watching [the series]," he says. — Paul Doro

SERIES FINALE!

Ava DuVernay

VACHERIE, LA —

The stillness of being deep in the country blankets the Queen Sugar set. It's not just that it's 107 degrees (with the heat index) that has everyone so quiet.

After seven years, the cast and crew drink in every moment of their last time on set. It feels like the end of high school, that bittersweet tug of not wanting to let go yet knowing it's time. They know this exact magic will not be repeated.

The woman who made this happen, Ava DuVernay, is also very still. She intensely watches an older farmer advise a younger one while directing the series finale. DuVernay helmed the pilot and since has hired exclusively women directors — 42 in all, over 88 episodes.

As Prosper (Henry G. Sanders) gives Ralph Angel (Kofi Siriboe) sage advice, DuVernay calls out, "Give me a different end."

Sanders, 80, doesn't miss a beat. He redoes the line.

"Nice," DuVernay says. "Got it, thank you."

Like all the characters on the series, the farmers evolved over the seasons. The Bordelons, the family the series revolves around, have endured much. Marriages were frayed and were rebuilt, businesses were started and births were celebrated over the course of the series.

"I'm delighted and satisfied," DuVernay says as she reflects on Queen Sugar. "I feel like I've done everything I set out to do."

The show grew out of Oprah Winfrey pushing Natalie Baszile's novel on DuVernay. Winfrey knew it would make a great series, but DuVernay had no inkling it would last this long.

Executive producer Winfrey tunes in Tuesdays rather than ahead of time. She's among the legions of fans who watched Ralph Angel go from feckless to responsible; Vi and Hollywood (Tina Lifford, Omar J. Dorsey) sustain true love; and Nova and Charley (Rutina Wesley, Dawn-Lyen Gardner) fight for what's right.

Despite the love for this drama, especially among African Americans, it has not won an Emmy.

Queen Sugar is specific to a Southern Black family, and DuVernay notes it's also universal.

"That's what I love about it," she says. "I hope one day it'll be on some streamer or something where people will start to watch it, but it was always meant for everybody."

The series even kept going during pandemic lockdowns. It took Paul Garnes, an executive producer and president of ARRAY Filmworks, to figure out how. He put the cast in pods as DuVernay and others quickly rewrote scripts to reflect the times with COVID and the Black Lives Matter movement.

Now, Garnes stands before 9-foot-high sugarcane as the final scene is blocked. The series looks authentic because it's shot at St. Joseph

Rutina Wesley, Kofi Striboe and Dawn-Lyen Gardner in Season 6

Plantation, a working sugarcane farm from the 1830s.

"It's so odd to believe it's coming to an end," he says. "We have been at this farm for seven and a half years. Enslaved people worked here. How proud they would be, people who were hopeless about their future, to know that we were here making a show about their descendants and one of the most misunderstood parts of American history."

He lists the people who populate the fictional St. Josephine Parish and says, "I relate so much to all of the different characters."

Garnes adds that he's known DuVernay for years since "she was the Olivia Pope of publicists."

"I wanted to be a publicist," DuVernay recalls. "That's all I wanted to be. And I still think it's an incredible job. But it was being on the sets, and I thought, 'Oh, I like this. Well, maybe I can do that.'"

MANIFEST

Stream On: NETFLIX

Available Friday, Nov. 4 (first 10 episodes)

SEASON PREMIERE!

Josh Dallas and
Melissa Roxburgh

We thought the intricately plotted drama was grounded for good last year when NBC canceled it after three seasons. But when Netflix audiences got excited about the mystery of Montego Air Flight 828, which vanished for five and a half years only to return with passengers who hadn't aged a day, the streamer brought back Manifest for a fourth and final round. Although the show was originally conceived to run for six seasons, "We've cut to the chase a little bit," creator Jeff Rake says. "But nothing fell out of the mythology." That means fans get answers sooner! Here's where things land in the first of two 10-episode blocks:

- 1. Two whole years have passed. Pivotal flashbacks in each episode will bring the audience up to speed. "The flashback sequences play as their own mini-mysteries," Rake notes, "and they end up lending context to the present-day story happening within the same episode."
- 2. Family tragedy has left its mark. The typically solid Stones "are in bad shape," Rake says. Eden remains missing, taken as a baby by murderous Angelina (Holly Taylor), which leaves father Ben (Josh Dallas) consumed with finding her. "He barely talks to the rest of his family," Rake says. "Ben basically lives in his car, driving around, putting up posters." His sister Michaela (Melissa Roxburgh) and fellow NYPD cop Jared Vasquez (J.R. Ramirez) try to help.
- 3. A new 828 passenger arrives in New York! Rake teases that it's a man "we've never met, but someone we've talked about before," and he's carrying a very special parcel. The story it launches draws in scientist Saanvi Bahl (Parveen Kaur), ally Robert Vance (Daryl Edwards) and now-teenage Cal Stone (Ty Doran). — Jim Halterman

Sylvester Stallone

5 TULSA KING

Sundays beginning Nov. 13 on
PARAMOUNT NETWORK /PARAMOUNT+
NEW SERIES!

Sylvester Stallone swaggers into his first major television role as a New York City mobster, 75-year-old Dwight “The General” Manfredi, in this series with behind-the-camera talent as prestigious as its star. Tulsa King is conceived by hitmaker Taylor Sheridan (Yellowstone) and written by master of the Mafia genre Terence Winter (Boardwalk Empire, The Sopranos). The drama will stream on Paramount+ beginning Nov. 13, but, as an enticement, Episodes 1 and 2 will air on Paramount Network Nov. 20.

Stallone sets up the show: “Dwight Manfredi has a dark side, but he’s also witty and a real tactician. He was at the top of his game until he took the fall for someone. During 25 years in prison, he goes through a revival and finds his philosophical side. Dwight has regrets and remorse, but it’s the only life he knows. Upon his release he returns to that life, expecting a reward, but instead has been exiled to Tulsa, almost as a punishment, to start a mob.”

Manfredi feels betrayed by his longtime employers, the Invernizzis: ailing old crime boss Pete (A.C. Peterson) and his son, de facto leader Chickie (Domenick Lombardozi, The Wire). Manfredi’s devotion to them has left him estranged from his 20-something daughter.

“Everything he does is motivated by that ticking clock to undo the damage [to that relationship],” Winter says. Still, Manfredi needs to make a living. Oklahoma may feel like another planet, but he starts putting a crew together within minutes of touching down.

“There’s action, drama, tension, poignancy — and comedy born of absurdity,” says Winter, who teases a scene where the Oklahoma crew goes to a weed farm, Manfredi indulges, and the guys drive around as he waxes philosophical.

But this game gets dangerous. “As nice and funny as Dwight is, and Sly brings that enormous likability, Dwight is a gangster,” Winter concludes. “When he needs to turn that on, you see it.” — Kate Hahn

Nicole Lecky

6 MOOD

Sundays beginning Nov. 6 on BBC AMERICA
NEW SERIES!

This gritty musical drama from actor, writer and singer-songwriter Nicole Lecky is based on her play, Superhoe, and follows aspiring pop star Sasha (Lecky), who has her dream sidetracked by the lure of easy money online. After a messy breakup and an alcohol-fueled night of arson, Sasha gets kicked out of her mom’s house and is left broke and homeless. She befriends and moves in with Carly (Lara Peake), a social-media influencer and pro party girl who’s raking in the money performing on her DailyFanz site. “Anyone can get big online,” Carly says. “You just got to play the game.” Sasha creates her Lexi Caramel online persona, and the game begins. As Sasha becomes more deeply invested in Lexi, she discovers the dark truths behind the facade of internet fame. The six-episode series is partly told through Sasha’s songs and features an original soundtrack performed by Lecky. — Ryan A. Berenz

George and Mayan Lopez

7 LOPEZ VS. LOPEZ
 Fridays beginning Nov. 4 on NBC
NEW SERIES!

George Lopez returns to star in his first sitcom in five years, a working-class comedy about dysfunction, reconnecting and all the pain and joy in between. He also executive produces the show, in which he plays a fictional version of “George Lopez” alongside his real-life daughter, Mayan Lopez (also a producer), as George’s adult daughter, “Mayan Lopez.”

The onscreen character of George has been estranged from Mayan until recently, but is trying his best to reconnect with his daughter and her family. It’s a scenario that is similar to what the Lopezes have gone through in their real lives.

“My parents got divorced about 10 years ago,” Mayan explains, “and within the last [few] years, my dad and I really solidified our relationship. [But] there was a time where we didn’t speak and were estranged for about three years. Really, the pandemic brought us back together. I started making TikToks with my family to reconnect, and [showrunner] Debby Wolfe saw one of [the videos], and this whole Lopez vs. Lopez idea was kind of born from that idea. ... This is an experience of a lifetime, to be able to do this with my father.”

George is also grateful, saying, “To have Debby see Mayan do TikToks about our unfortunate break in our relationship [and] create [something] beautiful from something that was so painful and so much my fault is just a wonderful thing.”

8 TAKEN HOSTAGE: AN “AMERICAN EXPERIENCE” SPECIAL
 Monday, Nov. 14 & Tuesday, Nov. 15 on PBS

This four-hour installment of American Experience, airing over two nights, revisits the Iran hostage crisis that began on Nov. 4, 1979, when 52 American diplomats, Marines and civilians were taken hostage at the American embassy in Tehran. Acclaimed filmmaker Robert Stone’s film unfolds like a political thriller as it examines the roots of the crisis and how it forever upended the focus and direction of American foreign policy.

The documentary uses riveting eyewitness accounts from hostages, journalists and government officials — and even footage shot by the hostage-takers themselves that was smuggled out of Iran.

Executive producer Cameo George says this film presents “a very unique perspective, even if it’s a story that you’re familiar with. ... Even if you lived through this [and] watched it on the nightly news ... hearing from the cast of characters that Robert has pulled together is bound to give you a new perspective. It is so intimate, so personal.”

9 TUTANKHAMUN: ALLIES AND ENEMIES
 Wednesday, Nov. 23 on PBS

This two-hour documentary airing to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the discovery of ancient Egyptian pharaoh Tutankhamun’s tomb will explore the life of the famed boy king, who died in his late teens. Produced and shot on location by an all-Egyptian crew, and using technology such as drone cameras and CT scans, the film takes a closer look at King Tut’s burial and seeks to share his story from his point of view. Cohosts

Dr. Yasmin El Shazly, lead archaeologist, and photographer Mahmoud Rashad journey across Egypt from Cairo to Luxor, and into newly discovered tombs that shed more light on Tut’s era (about 1341-1323 B.C.), seeking answers to some of the historical inconsistencies surrounding the ruler, his family and his legacy.

Dr. El Shazly says she is embarking on this quest “not only because I am an archaeologist, but as an Egyptian who wants to understand the history of my magnificent civilization. ... King Tut is not the golden mask. Tut was a human being just like anyone else. He was probably less fortunate than many.”

WEDNESDAY

Stream On: NETFLIX

Available Wednesday, Nov. 23

NEW SERIES!

The “altogether ooky” Addams Family will be back in your brain faster than you can go “Nah-na-na-na snap-snap!” In Netflix’s eight-episode series Wednesday from the legendarily dark mind of Tim Burton, 16-year-old Wednesday (Jenna Ortega) works to solve a supernatural murder mystery tied to her spooky fam. After being expelled from another school, “Wednesday’s going to Nevermore Academy,” says exec producer Al Gough — where her deeply-in-love parents, Morticia and Gomez (Catherine Zeta-Jones and Luis Guzmán), met. But Wednesday isn’t there to make friends; she hopes her pal, the disembodied hand Thing (Victor Dorobantu), can help her point out a killer. Along the way, she contends with bubbly roommate Enid (Emma Myers), antagonist principal Larissa Weems (Gwendoline Christie, with an “amazing Hitchcock-esque look,” teases EP Miles Millar) and a secret character played by Christina Ricci, who donned the pigtails in the ‘90s flicks. The broody teen must also deal with psychic powers that force her to face her feelings. “Wednesday has no fear of ax murderers, but she’s afraid of emotion,” Gough teases. Despite that, adds Gough: “What really sets the show apart is that Addams Family humor.” You might even say she is a scree-am! — Emily Aslanian

14 THE 96TH ANNUAL MACY'S THANKSGIVING DAY PARADE & THE NATIONAL DOG SHOW

Thursday, Nov. 24 on NBC

Two longtime Thanksgiving Day traditions on NBC return for this year's holiday. Up first Thanksgiving morning (9am-noon in all time zones) is the 96th installment of the beloved Macy's

Thanksgiving Day Parade. The event, held in New York City, began in 1924, and is tied with Detroit's as the country's second-oldest Thanksgiving parade (Philadelphia's, which began in 1920, is the oldest). This will be NBC's 70th year of airing the parade in its capacity as the official national broadcaster.

Following the parade (beginning at noon in all time zones) is another special with an impressive Thanksgiving Day history on NBC, even if not as long as the parade's: The National Dog Show, which the network has been broadcasting since 2002. Up there with the likes of Westminster as one of the nation's premier dog shows, this event has been held by The Kennel Club of Philadelphia since 1879. NBC's two-hour broadcast of this year's installment was taped Nov. 19, and again features John O'Hurley (pictured) as host, with cohost Mary Carillo and commentator David Frei. Further specifics weren't available at presstime, but the detail we are most interested in learning is if we will see the return of Scottish deerhound Claire — whose full official name is GCH Foxcliffe Claire Randall Fraser, after Caitriona Balfre's Outlander character — for her attempt at a threepeat after becoming the first dog to win back-to-back Best in Shows here, in 2020 and 2021.

The USA Hopes For A Triumphant Return To The World Cup.

By Ryan A. Berenz

The 2022 FIFA World Cup soccer tournament kicks off in Qatar, a nation of roughly 2.8 million people located on the eastern Arabian Peninsula. It's the first time the World Cup is played in the Middle East, and also the first time it's played in the fall, in order to avoid the intense desert heat.

After failing to qualify for the 2018 tournament in Russia, the U.S. Men's National Team is looking for redemption. Head coach Gregg Berhalter announces his roster on Nov. 9, but expect the squad to include forwards Christian Pulisic, Brenden Aaronson, Jesús Ferreira and Gio Reyna; midfielders Weston McKennie, Tyler Adams and Kellyn Acosta; defenders Sergio Dest, Aaron Long and DeAndre Yedlin; and goalkeeper Matt Turner.

The USA is in Group B and plays against Wales (Nov. 21), England (Nov. 25) and Iran (Nov. 29). The Black Friday match between the USA and England is a big one: They played to a 1-1 draw in the 2010 tournament, and the USA won the group over England based on the goals scored tiebreaker.

Teams with the best chances of hoisting the World Cup include Brazil, Belgium, Argentina, France, England and the Netherlands. France won its second title with a 4-2 win over Croatia in 2018.

FOX Sports airs all 64 matches live, with 35 matches on the FOX broadcast network and 29 on FS1. All matches can also be streamed live on the FOX Sports app. Spanish language broadcasts air on Telemundo.

CRITIC PICK OF THE MONTH

Make It A Movie Night!

Gina Prince-Bythewood (The Old Guard, The Secret Life of Bees) directs the amazing Viola Davis in a story that may not have worked as well with others at the helm. An epic story is brought to life with delicacy and intensity all at once, and that was needed to make this film succeed. Davis leads a cast including Thuso Mbedu, Lashana Lynch and Sheila Atim through the paces of a film that will stick with you after the final credits roll.

It's my pick of the month.

Paul Hall is a nationally syndicated film critic and member of the Critics Choice Association (CCA).

TCM SPOTLIGHT: ROYAL TREATMENTS, BRITISH ROYALTY PART 1

TCM 132, beginning at 8pm

CATCH A CLASSIC!

The British monarchy has long been a source of American fascination and filmmakers' inspiration. With the royal family once again making headlines as it ushers in a modern new chapter, TCM celebrates those who came before them with a back-to-back slate of aristocratic entertainment. The regal lineup begins with the Oscar-winning The Lion in Winter (1968), starring Peter O'Toole as King Henry II and Katharine Hepburn as his queen, a royal couple at odds about which of their three sons should be heir to the throne. Next, Anne of the Thousand Days (1969) stars a fiery Richard Burton as King Henry VIII, elegant Irene Papas as the beleaguered Queen Catherine and a luminous Genevieve Bujold as savvy, spirited and doomed Anne Boleyn. Then, Lady Jane (1986) examines the life of a woman who spent even less time on the throne than did Anne. Helena Bonham Carter stars as Lady Jane Grey, who, forced into a marriage of convenience and others' ambitions, finds true love and her own powerful nature in the transaction. Other films include: The Private Life of Henry the VIII (1933), Mary of Scotland (1936), and the irresistible Royal Wedding (1951). Fred Astaire and Jane Powell star as singing and dancing siblings sent to ply their craft in the U.K. at the height of Queen Elizabeth's 1947 wedding celebration, where romance awaits them, too.

OPENING TITLE SEQUENCES — PART 1

TCM 132, beginning at 8pm CATCH A CLASSIC!

Tonight and next Monday evening, Turner Classic Movies presents lineups of films that have established themselves as classics from the very moment they begin — with memorable and often innovative opening title sequences that use music, graphics, unique camerawork or some combination of all three to establish the movie's mood from the get-go, whether it be a comedy, drama, horror flick or action film. Up first is the ad-industry satire Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter? (1957), which places its title credits over fake TV commercials that failed to deliver on what they promised. Next, the Steve McQueen/Faye Dunaway-led 1968 heist film The Thomas Crown Affair begins with influential film title designer Pablo Ferro's famed multi-dynamic image montage set to Michel Legrand's Oscar-winning song "The Windmills of Your Mind." The Cary Grant/Audrey Hepburn 1963 romantic comedy/mystery Charade is next, and it kicks off with animated titles by Maurice Binder, who would also become known for his James Bond title sequences. Another animated title sequence from a legendary designer opens the next film: Saul Bass' intro to the Frank Sinatra-led drama The Man With the Golden Arm (1955). Rounding out the lineup early tomorrow morning are the action classic Shaft (1971), which opens with Isaac Hayes' Oscar-winning theme song; Kiss Me Deadly (1955), a film noir that is unique in many ways, including its backward title sequence; and The Thing From Another World (1951), the sci-fi/horror classic.

Up next, Bright Road (1953), culled from a Ladies Home Journal true story, features Dandridge as devoted teacher Jane Richards, who refuses to give up on a troubled boy. BIRDMAN OF ALCATRAZ CATCH A CLASSIC!

TCM 132, 10pm

Best Actor Oscar nominee Burt Lancaster is mesmerizing in this highly fictionalized 1962 biographical portrait of Robert Stroud, the hardcase federal inmate who, in 1920, took up bird care as a hobby while he was sentenced to solitary confinement at Leavenworth Prison, where he was allowed to keep birds. Whether with or without birds at hand, Stroud spent a life sentence in prison becoming a self-taught — and eminent — ornithologist. John Frankenheimer directed this remarkable study, which costars Karl Malden, Best Supporting Actress Oscar nominee Thelma Ritter, Best Supporting Actor Oscar nominee Telly Savalas, Neville Brand and Edmond O'Brien. Birdman of Alcatraz is the centerpiece of this evening's lineup of Lancaster classics; preceding it is Trapeze (1956), a drama set under the big top costarring Gina Lollobrigida, and in which the actor put his skills as a former circus acrobat to use. Following Birdman are Brute Force (1947), a film noir that was Lancaster's second movie, and which also features Hume Cronyn; Seven Days in May (1964), John Frankenheimer's political thriller costarring Kirk Douglas, Fredric March and Ava Gardner; and The Crimson Pirate (1952), a comedy/adventure swashbuckler.
